

SECRETARY TO PRESIDENT COOLIDGE TELLS OF CONVERSATIONS WITH M'LEAN AND FALLTELLS WHO IS ENTITLED TO VOTE FOR SCHOOL BOARD

Those Registered Since First
Of January, 1923, Are Declared Eligible

Voters who have registered since January 1, 1923, will be eligible to vote at the election of March 28, when two trustees are to be elected to the Board of Trustees of the Glendale Union High school.

This is the statement of D. B. Lyons, registrar of Los Angeles county. He adds that after midnight of March 31 voters for all future elections will have to be registered on the 1924 "Great Register."

Have You Moved?

Voters who have moved since they registered will be obliged to register again, unless the precincts have been so combined that they are still living in the same group of precincts as before.

Those who are compelled to re-register and who wish to vote at the school trustee election of March 28 will have to register prior to midnight of February 27, as the law requires a full month to elapse between date of registration and date the vote is cast.

The custom is to close registration books thirty days in advance of an election date. The date for the primary election is May 6. Therefore, it is essential that those who wish to vote in the primaries be registered prior to April 6.

Clears Situation

The statement has been made that only those who have registered since January 1, 1924, will be entitled to vote for school trustees on March 28.

However, the statement from Registrar Lyons to The Glendale Evening News today clears the situation for he says all who have registered since January 1, 1923, and have not moved out of the consolidated precinct, may vote. Of course, those who have re-registered since that time may vote, also.

Where to Register

Following is a list of Glendale deputy registrars:

Mrs. Myrtle B. Buckman, 1141 Winchester avenue.

Mrs. Eleanor Dell, 103 North Brand boulevard.

James H. Ballagh, 202 West Doran street.

Mrs. Grace Holman, 224 South Central avenue.

Mrs. Hattie Gaylord, 1218 Stanley avenue.

A. P. Steinsberg, and voters may also register at the city clerk's office, City Hall.

MUNICH, Feb. 25.—General Ludendorff, known during the great war as "the brains of the German army," and Adolf Hitler, leader of the Bavarian Fascists, today were lodged in the war academy building, preparatory to the opening of their trial tomorrow upon the charge of high treason.

Ludendorff was gloomy and had little to say. Hitler seemed in better spirits.

The war academy building is closely guarded by military police to prevent any attempt to harm or to liberate the captives.

Inheritance Tax Is Added by Insurgents

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Another coalition of Democrats and insurgent Republicans in the House resulted this afternoon in the adoption of an amendment to the tax bill to increase the inheritance taxes on all estates above $100,000.

The amendment was proposed by Representative Ranseyer, Republican of Iowa, and adopted by a vote of 190 to 110.

URGE CHAPMAN FOR VICE PRESIDENCY
SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 25.—A Californian as the running mate of Calvin Coolidge in 1924! That was the cry today of Southern California delegates, boosting C. C. Chapman of Fullerton, as a candidate for vice president, who stormed the opening session of the state conference of the League of Coolidge Republican clubs called to name the ticket of candidates for the California delegation to the national Republican convention. While official endorsement of Mr. Chapman will probably not be made, Coolidge Republican leaders said, owing to such action being without the province of the gathering here today, they asserted the movement to boost the Southern Californian was particularly strong and talk of Chapman for Coolidge's running mate dominated the conference.

H. M. Bennett, Back From Orange Show, Tells of Battling Storm

H. M. Bennett, toparch of Pyramid No. 39, Ancient Egyptian Order of Sciois, arrived back in Glendale last night after a motor trip from San Bernardino that was not without its thrills.

He states that while the storm stories published in the morning papers were greatly exaggerated, road conditions were nevertheless serious, due to the sandstorm that raged Saturday and Sunday, and that while the great tent housing the main exhibits of the Orange show was not blown away, a great rent was torn in its top, compelling the officials to close the show.

Boosts Glendale

Toparch Bennett went to San Bernardino to take part in the Sciois' Day celebration. Two special Southern Pacific cars took the entire Glendale Sciois' band to the big carnival, with their manager, G. O. Russell, he states. The cars left here at 11 o'clock Saturday morning and returned at 12 o'clock Saturday night.

Mr. Bennett left Saturday morning, in his car, accompanied by William Moody. He states that six cars left from the Chamber of Commerce, as Saturday was also Glendale Day at the Orange show.

In the afternoon, Mr. Bennett addressed the gathering of 40,000 people as a representative from Glendale, talking of this city's great growth.

Meets Local People

Sunday morning, he states, they went to the Rainbow Trout club, near Redlands, where they were joined by a number of other Glendale people, including Archie Gregg and family, Arthur H. Dibern and Dr. Warren Z. Newton, W. S. Ratray and family and Mr. and Mrs. William McCormack. The return was made to Colton without difficulty. Mr. Bennett states, after which they proceeded against the advice of officers stationed along the highway, encountering thick sand in many places, but plowing through safely and arriving home Sunday night without mishap.

LONDON, Feb. 25.—Revolutionary communists who are reported to have seized the Bulgarian government at Sofia are preparing to make war against Jugoslavia in the spring, according to unconfirmed advices from Athens today.

Despite the fact that the Bulgarian legations in London and Paris deny the report of a revolt, the Daily Express plays up the story as a fact.

King Is Banished
According to this report bands of irregulars entered Sofia, murdered all the cabinet members and raised the red flags.

Bandits were said to be operating throughout the northern provinces.

King Boris was reported to have been banished. It is understood in Athens that the communists have made common cause with the Macedonians, who are clamoring for war against Jugoslavia.

Texas Is Blanketed
By Heavy Snowfall

FORT WORTH, Texas, Feb. 25.—Varying in depth from three to six inches, one of the heaviest snows in years was today blanketing west and north Texas, with rain and occasional flurries of snow in the eastern and more southern sections.

Southwest Texas was experiencing a combination of sleet and hail with subsequent drops in temperature. North Texas and a portion of the Panhandle, although drenched in a wet snow that has fallen for more than 12 hours, reported only a slight drop in temperature.

El Paso reported its second snowfall of the season with a drop in temperature to 32 above.

PARIS, Feb. 25.—A moratorium to enable Germany to repair her shattered finances will be proposed, it is understood, by the international committee of reparations experts headed by General Charles G. Dawes of Chicago.

The committee met in plenary session today to begin the final draft of the report which will be made to the inter-allied reparations commission.

Officials Silent
Foreign office officials refused to make any comment upon the work of the committee. On the other hand, speaking for the foreign office, said:

"We believe that comment at this time would be inappropriate. We have no wish to influence the decisions of the experts committee. Newspaper criticism is certainly not inspired from official circles."

ROME, Feb. 25.—Spain formally withdrew today from the League of Nations naval armament conference, after the Spanish navy had been placed on an equal footing with South American countries.

The conference offered Spain 80,000 tons of naval craft, but the Spaniards insisted upon 105,000 tons.

"We were compelled to withdraw because of the absurd behavior of the conference towards Spain," said Commander Montagu, head of the Spanish delegation. "The conference first accepted Spain's offer to limit her naval tonnage to 105,000, but upon a second vote, refused to authorize Spain to construct the difference, between 82,000 and 105,000 tons."

Admits Oil Investigation Topic of Informal Meetings; Senate Committee Continues Its Quiz Into Newspaperman's Bank Account

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—A broad and sweeping denial that his December trip to Florida had anything to do with the naval oil leasing scandals, or the men who figure in it, was made today by C. Bascom Slemple, secretary to President Coolidge, in the course of a forty minute grilling at the hands of the Senate public lands committee.

Slemple admitted he had seen Albert B. Fall at Palm Beach and also E. B. McLean, who loaned Fall $100,000 in checks that were returned uncashed, and he admitted talking to them about the oil investigation, but he declared his conversations were casual and informal and in no way connected with his official position as an administration representative.

Slemple described several conversations he had with McLean and Fall. He was a dinner and luncheon guest of the McLeans, he said.

Going to Tell All

On one occasion, the president's secretary said, he was walking on the beach with Fall, and Fall said to him:

"I'm going to tell it all."

Slemple said he didn't know what Fall was talking about then, as it had been generally accepted that Fall got the $100,000 from McLean.

Pressed to explain why he did not have Fall go to Senator Walsh at Palm Beach, Slemple said:

"I wasn't Fall's keeper, you know."

Slemple added that he had no notice of Fall's coming to Palm Beach.

Senator Adams, Democrat, of Colorado then took up the questioning.

"You and McLean were good friends?"

"Yes."

"You were together at meals frequently?"

"Yes."

Luncheons and Dinners

Slemple explained that the Falls took their meals at McLean's house and he met Fall there at luncheons and dinners.

"How did you fix the date as December 31 as the date Fall arrived?"

"I got it from the newspapers after Saturday."

Under examination by Senator Dill, Democrat, Washington, Slemple said Fall told him he had "borrowed the money from a friend of 'long standing'."

"Why did you advise Fall to tell the truth and clear up the whole matter?"

"You made no inquiry yourself?"

Duty to President

"No, I have but one duty, and that is to the president, and I have no idea of going outside of that."

"You left Palm Beach then as curious as the rest of the people?"

"Yes."

Walsh asked Slemple if he had talked to McLean since the return from Florida.

"Yes, I called on the McLeans last Thursday."

"Was the matter discussed?"

asked Adams.

"No, I called socially."

"I have talked to no members of the committee about this inquiry. You are all here and you can tell me if I have."

Didn't Expect Summons

"Didn't you say you expected to be called before the committee?"

asked Adams.

"I did not. I never dreamed I'd be called."

"Did you inquire whether a subpoena had been issued for you?"

"I did not," replied Slemple, hotly.

"Now, Mr. Slemple," said Walsh, "you must have regarded the situation there (in Palm Beach) as remarkable when so eminent a citizen as McLean confessed he misled the committee and an ex-cabinet officer was found in the same situation. Your duty, you said, was to the president. Didn't it occur to you that this was a duty which involved the president?"

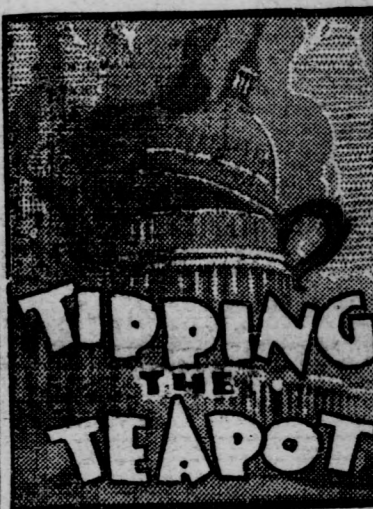

Refuses Comment

"You can make your own comment, but I don't want to comment on it," replied Slemple.

Slemple Walsh asked Slemple about the famous $100,000 loan to Fall, "about which you went to Florida," but Slemple denied knowing anything about it.

"It was a surprise to me to learn that the money was advanced."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—To-day's developments in the greater oil scandal were:

One—C. Bascom Slemple, secretary to President Coolidge, denied going to Florida last December on "a mission" for the administration, although he admitted seeing there Albert B. Fall and E. B. McLean, two of the central figures in the oil investigation. Slemple said he advised them both to "tell the whole story."

Two—Three Washington bankers testified before Senate investigating committee concerning E. B. McLean's bank accounts, and revealed that he had less than $5,000 on deposit in their institutions at the time he said he wrote $100,000 worth of checks for Albert B. Fall, which Fall subsequently returned uncashed.

Bankers said, however, they would have arranged an overdraft for McLean had he indicated he desired it, but he did not.

Three—Attorney General Daugherty's decision not to resign under fire and the Republican national committee's decision to stand back of him were reaffirmed to President Coolidge by Chairman John T. Adams, who characterized the charges against the attorney-general as "ridiculous."

H. Foster Bain, director of the bureau of mines, is again grilled by oil committee concerning a letter he wrote to Fall in which he said he had realized "the objections" Fall had to ask opinion as to the legality of the leases. Fall gave him the impression, Bain said, that Daugherty either in a cabinet meeting or after one, had "expressed no opinion" to the leases.

Ranch Seized by Dry
Agents Is Restored

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—The United States Supreme court today upheld the ancient principle that "a man's home is his castle" by restoring to Fred P. Viome, of Montana, a small ranch which prohibition agents had seized and offered for sale because of charges that Viome was operating a still and making liquor.

The lower courts had upheld the seizure. Viome denied the charges and had claimed invasion of his constitutional rights by the dry officers.

THREE DIE IN CRASH

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 25.—Traveling at high speed, a big seven-passenger automobile crashed into the rear end of a Missouri Pacific freight train early today, and death claimed three of its occupants, while the fourth was believed dying. The dead: M. J. Conner, 45, St. Louis; Miss Selma Wander, 22; an unidentified middle-aged woman.

DEATHS - FUNERALS

MRS. LULU ANN SMITH
The funeral for Mrs. Lulu Ann Smith, wife of Delos H. Smith, who died 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, February 23, 1924, will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon, at the "Little Church of the Flowers," with interment at Forest Lawn Memorial park. Rev. Clifford A. Cole will officiate. Arrangements are in charge of Kiefer & Eyerick, undertakers.

Mrs. Smith died at her home, 302 North Maryland avenue, after a lingering illness that had its inception two years ago. March. For the past month she had been confined to her bed, and although she struggled bravely for life, the battle had been a losing one for some time and the family were prepared for the end long before it came. She was 59 years old, having been born in Manchester, Iowa, December 14, 1865.

She is survived by her husband and one son, Wayne R. Smith and family, of 519 North Maryland avenue; by two sisters, Mrs. Edith Penton of 125 South Louise street, Miss M. Gertrude Roe of 224 Dayton court; and by a brother, Charles W. Roe of Clermont, Florida.

The pallbearers at the funeral will be R. L. Hinckley, A. W. Beach, W. E. Hewitt, W. L. Trull, G. Douglas Balch and Stanley Gorman. Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Smith of Fresno, brother and sister-in-law of Delos H. Smith, will attend the funeral, as will the sisters and son of the deceased.

Mrs. Lulu Ann Smith had long been prominent in local club and social affairs, having come to Glendale with her husband in 1912. She was a member of the Tuesday Afternoon club, P. E. O. (A.H. chapter), Order of the Eastern Star (Glen Eyrie chapter), American Legion auxiliary and the Friday Afternoon club of Los Angeles. She was an active member of the Christian church of Glendale.

In short, wherever the betterment of the city was concerned, Mrs. Smith played a vital part. Yet, those who knew her best learned through the years that in her home life the beauty of her character shone forth the clearest, for here it was that her inspiration had its origin.

Delos H. Smith, husband of the deceased woman, has played a prominent part in the business life of Glendale. He is vice president and manager of the Brand boulevard branch, Pacific Southwest Trust & Savings bank, vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce, a member of the Kiwanis club, a Mason and an Elk.

Social Events

Guests of Knights

Guests of Glendale Commandery, No. 53, Knights Templar at the dinner dance Saturday night in the Masonic temple on South Brand boulevard, enjoyed one of the most brilliant and successful social affairs at which the Sir Knights have ever been hosts.

Warren Roberts was general chairman of the affair and he and his assistants are deserving of much praise for the delightfulness of the evening.

Owen Emery and Emil Kiefer arranged the decorations; W. L. Hyde selected the favors; W. S. Rattray, J. Francis Henry and Dwight Stephenson composed the floor committees, and S. Riley Lyons had charge of the tickets. The Sir Knights and their guests assembled upstairs in the lodge room and at the dinner banquet room in groups of eight.

Tables, brilliant with decorations of yellow acacia, were arranged about the hall, keeping the dance floor clear for dancing between courses. In recognition of the fact that the day was the anniversary of the birth of George Washington, a patriotic motif was introduced in the arrangement of the tables. At every woman's place were little bon bon boxes, the lids bearing cherries and a tiny hatchet, while at the men's places were little hatchets, later worn on coat lapels.

American flags and bouquets of red carnations were used about the hall.

After the company was seated Robert M. Grumling, commandery clerk, extended a welcome to the guests and then introduced the presiding officers of other Masonic organizations. He presented Mrs. Jennie A. Phillips, worthy matron of Glen Eyrie chapter, O. E. S.; Mrs. Hermine S. Hudson, worthy matron of Glendale chapter, O. E. S.; Mrs. Evelyn G. Pierce, worthy high priestess of Omar Shrine, White Shrine of Jerusalem; Newton Van Why, worshipful master of Unity lodge, No. 363; Thomas F. Carter, high priest of Unity chapter, No. 116; Charles J. Wolfe, worshipful master of Glendale lodge, No. 544; Mrs. Nana Custer, royal matron of Amaranth.

Splendid music for dancing was furnished by the Scots' orchestra. Features introduced during the evening were community singing, led in a spirited manner by Francis J. W. Henry; the minuet, danced by a group of Colonial maidens in pretty costumes, and the "Balloon Dance" by Blossom Moore.

Misses Murial Gambrill and Thelma Johnston, committee in charge of tickets, announces tickets may be secured at the door or from any member of the society.

Tuesday Night
Glendale's Business and Professional Women's club is going to give a Tuesday night, "old fashioned days and ways" are still popular, at the old times' dancing party to be given in the Hahn auditorium on North Brand boulevard.

The club gave a similar affair a year ago and those who enjoyed it are still talking of its success.

Mrs. Virginia Freeman is chairman of the affair tomorrow night, and in addition to the dance program she will present a group of her talented pupils.

Good dance music will be furnished and many of the old time favorites will be included in the dance program.

Mrs. E. B. Moore, president of the Glendale Oratorio Society, Parent-Teacher association will give readings and also sing "Star Eyes" (Oley Speaks). Frances Kulp will also sing and other pupils of Mrs. Freeman appearing will be Gretta Cordary, Gladys White, Pearl Adair and Myron Carmen. Mrs. Roberta T. Young will be the accompanist.

After the program and dancing an informal social time will be enjoyed with the serving of refreshments.

Attractive decorations are being planned by the committee with Miss Elizabeth D. Stevens. She will be assisted by Miss Alma F. Smith and Mrs. Allie Burkin.

Members of the club have received guests tickets and club members and guests having tickets will be admitted.

Club Tomorrow
Tuesday Afternoon club members and guests are to listen tomorrow afternoon to a masterful lecture by Dr. Herbert L. Willett of the University of Chicago, on "The Place of the Bible in Modern Thought." The club meeting will begin at 2:30 o'clock.

Dr. Willett is declared to be a charming speaker with a clear, resonant voice, splendid appearance, eloquent language and strong reasoning qualities. His discussion of the Bible will be most timely in the Tuesday Afternoon club where the Bible course being given by Miss Winifred Rouzee has aroused such an enthusiasm for Bible study.

Dr. Willett has had the advantages of travel in Bible lands, having recently concluded a ten months' tour of the world, during which he visited many of the most prominent mission fields.

Bore and after the club meeting there will be a food sale in the palm room in charge of Mrs. Homer Denton Lockwood.

Entertains Class
Members of the R. T. W. class of the First Baptist church will hold their regular meeting Thursday afternoon February 28, at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Walter Stamps, 436 West Colorado street. All members are urged to be in attendance.

Glass for lenses has been produced that, while as thin and as transparent as ordinary spectacles, will stand five times as great a shock.

Birthday Surprise

When Mrs. Flora Pixley of 116 West Lomita avenue was invited to spend the week-end with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Dykes of Montebello, she was unaware that she would return home early Sunday afternoon to find her home filled with sixty relatives and friends gathered to surprise her on her seventieth birthday.

The birthday party had been arranged by Mrs. Pixley's children, Miss Olive Pixley of Glendale; Mrs. W. P. McArthur of Los Angeles; Mrs. Dykes, and J. G. Pixley of Glendale. Invitations were issued to her friends in the G. A. R. and W. R. C. and at the Pacific Avenue Methodist church.

When she arrived home at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon she found the house beautifully decorated with flags and flowers and a large company to greet her.

Rev. C. R. Norton, genial chaplain of the N. P. Banks post, G. A. R., was among the guests and he gave a prayer and a birthday greeting to the guests to Mrs. Pixley.

Late in the afternoon a prettily decorated birthday cake was cut and served with ice cream.

Give Card Party
A five hundred party was enjoyed last Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Waite, 429 West Lomita avenue, by the members of the Navajo Needlework club and their husbands and escorts.

The Waite home was attractively decorated with arrangements of flowers and white snap dragons and greenery. The evening was devoted to five hundred at which Mrs. M. C. Fuller and J. C. Waite were awarded prizes.

Late in the evening a dainty course of refreshments were served. Those present included Mr. and Mrs. C. Fuller, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Overton, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Root, Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Burger, of Glendale, and Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Walker, and Bud Waite of Hollywood.

Dance Hostesses

Members of the Girls' Friendly society of St. Mark's Episcopal church will entertain with a dance at the L. O. O. F. hall Friday night, February 29.

This promises to be one of the most enjoyable social affairs given under the auspices of the society and a large attendance is anticipated. Music for the dancing will be furnished by the Scots' orchestra.

Misses Murial Gambrill and Thelma Johnston, committee in charge of tickets, announces tickets may be secured at the door or from any member of the society.

College Guests

Miss Alice Green of West Maple avenue entertained with a slumber party Sunday night, her guests arriving for Sunday night supper and attending the special meeting of the Epworth League at Casa Verdugo church and leaving this morning for their classes in college.

The guests were Misses Marian Gift, Eugenie Lee, Florence Rickel, Ellene Gillespie, fellow students of Miss Green at the University Southern Branch; and Miss Alice Hughes of U. C. C., who was a speaker at the Casa Verdugo Epworth League meeting.

Anniversary
One of the most enjoyable informal affairs of the week was given by Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Weitzel at their home, 620 East Palmer avenue, Saturday evening in the celebration of their first wedding anniversary.

Dancing was enjoyed during the evening until midnight, when a delightful course of refreshments was served.

Those who participated in the celebration included Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Ehlen, Mrs. Mae S. Cook, Mrs. Peterson, Mrs. Katherine Ehlen, Ted Hansen, Miss Ruth Cook, Harold Peterson and the host and hostess.

Cigarette Cause of Fire Near La Canada
A brush fire, said to have been started by a cigarette thrown away by a passing motorist, and fanned by the prevailing high wind, threatened a time Saturday night to assume serious proportions and rival the San Rafael hills fire of last August.

The fire was located back of the new La Canada Country club site between Montrose and La Canada, north and east of the area burned last year.

The alarm was turned into the local fire department, and Captain Johnny Meyer and Fireman Kennedy answered. Upon arrival at the scene they found officials from the County Fire Warden's office in charge, with a force of 200 men armed with shovels combating the blaze.

The fire was checked and burnt itself out when it reached the ground formerly burnt out. The damage was nominal.

Burglar In Home Is Found to Be High Wind
Glendale was entirely free from burglaries during the week-end, a welcome change after the robberies ranging in number from 8 to 12 reported every Sunday during the past month.

Barry Alexander, 534 East Windsor road, reported at police headquarters that his home had been entered, but on investigation by the detectives it was found that the high wind had blown the screens off the windows and there the intrusion had ended.

LIBRARY TO AD SCHOOL COURSES

Books on Outside Reading Lists Received by Southern Branch

The Glendale South Brand branch library during past years has always been ready and willing to cooperate with the schools in every way possible and especially in securing the books included on the schools' outside reading lists, accordingly, Charles H. Cushing, branch librarian, announces a complete list of new books that have just been received in compliance with the Glendale schools' requirements. Mr. Cushing also announced that assistance will be cheerfully given to the students in their reference work and lists of material on a special subject will be furnished on request.

The following received on the Intermediate school reading list are: "The First Christmas Tree" by Van Dyke; "Wilderness Honey" by Pollock; "Hitting the Park Trail" by Hawkes; "Boyhood in Norway" by Boyesen; "Brettir the Strong" by French; "Daniel Boone, Backwoodsman," by Forbes-Lindsay; "Wilderness" by Kent; "Children of the New Forest" by Marryat; "The Book of the Blue Sea" by Newbolt; "The Four Gordons" by Brown; "The Dragon's Secret" and "When the Cobbler Ruled the King" by Seaman; and "The Wilderness Castaways" by Wallace.

On High School List
The following are on the High school list: "Morgan's Men," by True; "The Battle Ground," by Glasgow; "The Outlet," by Adams; "Three White Mice," by Davis; "Marco Polo," by Brooks; "Sea Fighters from Drake to Farragut," by Johnston; "Magellan," by Towle; "Raleigh, His Voyages and Adventures," by Towle; "Heroes of Progress in America," by Morris; "Edmund Burke," by Morley; "Middle Group of American Historians," by Bassett; "Alexander Hamilton," by Canant; "Women of the American Revolution," by Elliot; "Paul Jones," by Hopgood; "Samuel Adams," by Hosmer; "Alexander Hamilton," by Lodge; "Three Biographies of Benjamin Franklin," by More, Morse and McMaster; "John Jay," by Feltow; "Albert Gallatin," by Stevens; "Patrick Henry," by Tyler; "William H. Prescott," by Tickner; "John Randolph," by Adams; "Historic Americans," by Brooks; "James Madison," by Gay; "John Adams," by Morse; "Governor Morris," by Roosevelt; "James Monroe," by Gilman; "Lewis and Clarke," by Likton; "Daniel Webster," by Lodge; "Thomas Jefferson," by Marvin; "John C. Calhoun," by Likton; "Thomas Hart Benton," by Roosevelt; "Martin Van Buren," by Shepard; "Andrew Jackson," by Shepard; "William Lloyd Garrison," by Swift; "U. S. Grant," by Allen; "Stephen A. Other books of special interest which have just been placed on the shelves are: "The Book of the American Indian," by Hamlin Garland and beautifully illustrated by Remington; "Women of 1923, International," and a "Who's Who" of the women of the world, giving brief accounts of the activities of individual women and the work of the principal women's organizations of various kinds.

"Gardening in California" by Mitchell will be especially timely just now, the best season for getting gardens started.

"Planning a Trip Abroad" is a practical and up-to-date guide book for those planning a European journey.

A book which will be of great help to the debater is "Debate Outlines on Public Questions" edited by Carpenter, giving briefs on both the affirmative and negative sides of a large number of questions which are attracting wide attention at the present time.

Some books on the fiction shelf include: "Trail of '98," by Service; "Anne Feversham," by Snaith; "Captain Scraggs," by Kynne; "The Greater Glory," by Pelley; "Calumet," by Merwin and Webster; "Captain Macklin," by Davis; "Happy Isles," by King; "The Lunatic at Large Again," by Clouston; "The River Trail," by Erskine; "Old Forever," by Ollivant; "The Coast of Folly," by Dawson; "Judgment of the Storm," by Mason; "The Inverted Pyramid," by Sinclair; "Tut Tut," by Traill; "Thrifty Stock and Other Stories," by Williams; "The Rover," by Conrad; "Anthony Dare," by Marshall; and "Tappan's Burro," by Zane Grey.

We Believe That Stores Like This One Owe Something to the Public Beyond the Mere Gathering and Selling of Merchandise—

We believe that a store of today has no business selling poor goods, no matter whether the buyer has discerning judgment or not.

We believe it is the duty of a store to make sure its goods are worthy before they reach its counters.

Few stores are as careful that "wool" shall mean all wool—"linen" shall be pure Irish linen.

We know that people have learned that buying here is safe—that they can depend on whatever comes from Lauderdale's Irish Linen Store.

Besides this painstaking care about the quality, our values are better—good merchandise may be bought here for less.

It is not the policy of Lauderdale's Irish Linen Store to make the maximum profit on the individual sale, but to sell good merchandise at prices that will merit your continued patronage.

REVIVAL ENTERS ON FINAL STAGE

Evangelistic Services Will Close at M. E. Church
On March 2nd

The third week of evangelistic services at the First Methodist church opened yesterday with a rally during the Sunday school hour. At the close of an earnest address by Rev. H. W. Kerr, presenting God's claim on every life, an invitation was given to which over 100 of the pupils of the Sunday school responded to dedicate their lives to their Creator.

During the 11 o'clock service, Rev. J. McD. Kerr delivered a sermon on "The Ministry of the Holy Spirit." He said: "Jesus had been with His disciples for three years, mingled with them in all the relations of life. It was the darkest day in their lives when Christ told them that He must leave them, but He did not long leave them in their sorrow and distress for He told them of the promised comforter, the Holy Spirit, 'who will abide with you forever, even to the end of time.'"

Three Main Heads

"The text, 'When He is Come,' divides itself into three parts: The infusion, the suffusion, and the diffusion. Infusion is God's love in our hearts. Jesus, after His resurrection, met His apostles and said, 'Receive ye the Holy Spirit.' At that great event, Pentecost, the Holy Spirit, came in a marvelous manner.

"Secondly, He comes in suffusion. Like the gentle shower that waters the earth, refreshing and beautifying, that fills the streams, that overflows the rivers and on out to the ocean. This is a wonderful privilege to be filled and overflowing with the spirit.

"Diffusion: 'As ye have freely received, so freely give.' The more you have of the spirit's power, the more you will want, and the more you will want others to share in its blessings.

The evening service was unusually well attended and Rev. H. W. Kerr delivered a worth-while sermon on "What Shall the End Be of Those That Obey Not the Gospel of Christ?"

The evangelistic services will continue throughout the week, ending on Sunday, March 2. The topic of the sermon to be delivered tonight will be "Successful Persuasion."

ROBINSON LEADS CHORAL PROGRAM

Local Musicians Will Sing
At Hollywood 'Sing'
Tuesday Night

Glendale's singing mayor, Spencer Robinson, is to introduce the program the Glendale Choral club is to give tomorrow night at the community "sing" in the Hollywood High school auditorium.

The Glendale delegation is going over to the Hollywood affair, which meets every Tuesday night in the high school auditorium for singing led by Hugo Kirchhofer. The high school is located at 1521 Highland avenue, at the corner of Sunset boulevard.

Start at 7 o'clock

All Glendaleans planning on attending tomorrow night are to meet at the Harvard High school at 7 o'clock.

The program to be given will include greeting and solo by Mayor Spencer Robinson; duet by Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Cavah, "Unfading Love"; selections by Glendale Trio, Mrs. Gertrude Erb, pianist, Julius Kraus, violinist, J. Arthur Myers, cellist, "Contra Altus (Gade) and 'Slavic Dance' (Dvorak); selections from "Hawatha's Feast" (Coleridge-Taylor); Glendale Choral club, with tenor solo by Dr. Joseph Marple, "On-ward! Awake, Beloved."

Poker Played in China As Mah Jongg in U. S.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 25.—Poker is a more common game in China than the well-known Mah Jongg, according to a Chinese student at the University of Pennsylvania, who spoke with the feeling that "it is high time for some Chinese to point out a few of the extravagances that marvelous press agents have indulged in while popularizing Mah Jongg."

"First, it is not a sacred and ancient game," he said. "They say it originated with Confucius, but that sage would have frowned on such frivolity."

"It cannot be very ancient, as we Chinese consider things ancient. The game is not mentioned in literature earlier than 100 years ago."

"Then you should discount all statements that it is the most popular game played in China. I would say that your American poker is played more extensively in my country than Mah Jongg."

Runaway Horse Hits Auto, Injuring Two

COLUMBUS, Ga., Feb. 25.—A runaway cavalry horse refused to give the right of way to an on-coming automobile near here the other day, and as a result he crashed head-on with the car, dashed through the windshield to his sudden death and injured Captain George Reed, the driver, and his mother, who occupied the front seat with Reed.

Farmer Succeeds As Restaurateur; Art Connoisseur

John R. Thompson

CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—John R. Thompson, whose recent art acquisitions have placed him among the foremost American private collectors, was started on the road to millions by a bad cup of coffee.

The story goes that thirty-one years ago Thompson and his wife came from the farm to see the Chicago World's Fair. They went into a restaurant for breakfast. The coffee was unusually poor and Thompson went back to see the proprietor.

"I can make a better cup of coffee than that myself," he announced in an argument.

"Maybe you want to try it," responded the proprietor.

"Sure I do," replied Thompson. "Well, you'll have to buy this restaurant if you do."

Ten minutes later Thompson bought the place. Now he heads a corporation which owns and operates eating houses throughout the country and a string of cash-and-carry groceries on the side.

It is the same John R. Thompson who a short time ago decided that he wanted an art collection.

In December Mr. Thompson spent approximately a half million dollars for five early Italian pictures that once hung in the William Solomon galleries.

SELLS BUSINESS, WILL COME WEST

Sister of A. H. Montgomery
To Settle in California
In Near Future

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Montgomery of 415 South Central avenue are delighted over word received from Mr. Montgomery's sister, Miss Laura Montgomery, that she has sold her business interests in Ionia, Michigan, and is en route to California, to locate possibly in Glendale.

A recent account in an Ionia newspaper says:

"Miss Montgomery has been associated with the public in business for twenty years. In the year 1904 she relieved her father, who, because of illness, had to give up his active work, comprised of real estate and insurance."

"Aside from insurance Miss Montgomery has taken active part in settling some large estates and acted as agent in the Osmond Tower, Sr., and Hall-Fowler estates."

Social Worker

"While Miss Montgomery has been active in business, her life has always been one filled with sacrifices for others, and there are few homes in Ionia which have not had a touch of human sympathy from her when in trouble. As long as her mother lived they kept their home here, which was built many years ago by her father and uncle, much of the hardwood used being shipped from the center of their lumbering business in a northern country. This house was recently purchased by the congregation of St. John's Episcopal church, to be used as a rectory."

"When Miss Montgomery leaves for the west next week she will go with the best wishes of her host of friends."

'Mama' Dolls Loaded with Imported Wine

KEY WEST, Fla., Feb. 25.—Genuine bisque dolls, with eyes that open and close—the kind that call "Mama"—have assumed an unusual fascination for grown-ups in this city.

The reason for this unusual fascination was revealed here the other day when prohibition deputies confiscated a large number of them in a raid on a local "speak-easy."

The dolls, which would have delighted most any little girl, were intended to delight daddy instead, it was revealed.

An investigation proved that in the absence of the regulation excelsior stuffing each doll contained about a pint of real Spanish wine. The bottles were fully concealed under the dresses in the body, and only the weight of the toy would arouse suspicion.

And thus it became known why these dolls were so popular here during the holidays, when scores of them were sold as toys.

COMMENT That's All

Winds Blow, But No Rain Danger of Fire and Water
How to Help Farmers
Oil Scandal Boomerang

—By Gil A. Cowan—

"The winds do blow," quoth the observer Saturday evening, who got the customary eyeful—of dust—for his trouble of observing the elements.

Indeed, it has been a windy winter and it is to be hoped that the stormy weather of the weekend will result in a much needed rain.

Ranchers not dependent on irrigation in the state this year are worried by the lack of moisture and it is currently reported that this season has been more dry than any in history.

All of which may go to prove that prohibition is being enforced in more ways than one. It surely is dry, and unless rain comes very soon there will be little or no forage in the California hills, neither will there be the usual beautiful crops.

Lack of snow in the mountains also makes certain of a water shortage in the rivers and subterranean supply which is a most difficult problem for fruit growers, vegetable gardeners and ranchers.

Statistics covering a period of years reveal that the most rain falls in March but there is that added danger that too much will come at once, flooding the rivers and doing equally as much damage as good.

Supplications are being heard this week in the churches throughout the state for rain and even some are appealing to "Rainmaker" Hatfield for assistance. Others predict that this is only the beginning of a seven years' drought.

Withal, it has been ideal weather in Southern California and whether it rains or not the tourists are acclaiming this as the ideal place to enjoy the winter season, particularly when snows and far below zero weather are reported in the middle west.

In speaking of the windstorm there was another hill fire Saturday night back of Montrose which called out the populace and threatened some of the fine homes in the vicinity.

With a dry season apparently ahead it would be wise for the authorities to adopt all possible precautions to prevent another conflagration like that which Glendale and Eagle Rock saw last summer.

Then again we recollect the rains of ten years ago which caused Verdugo wash to overflow and inundate the business district of Glendale. That was one exciting night—February 19, 1914.

And today conditions are equally as dangerous, it is stated, if a continued downpour should occur, for the hills are burned and barren of vegetation.

Many of our readers hail from the middle west. No doubt they wonder what editors there are saying in regard to the farm situation. We quote from the Des Moines, Iowa, Capital the following:

"Government reports, based on records running back twenty-five years, state that the price of livestock to American farmers depends almost exclusively on the domestic consumption of meat. In other words, foreign trade in meat products has practically nothing to do with the price which farmers receive. In testimony given to the Interstate Commerce commission, Secretary Hoover stated that a seven-pound per capita increase in the annual consumption of meat in the United States would help the farmers more than a 25 per cent increase in all the exports of meat products. Obviously, seven pounds a year, per person, would be a very slight increase when figured in terms of days; it would be about two ounces per week."

"This statement applies in much the same way to other products of American farms. Whatever is to be done for the farmers of the United States must be done by the home market. The post office department is rendering some good service along this line by displaying posters in practically every post office in the United States."

One of the biggest boomerangs in political history was the attempt of the Democratic leaders to make political capital out of the oil scandal. With their own prospects damaged by the evidence the Bourbons may be glad that President Coolidge has pledged a non-partisan investigation.

However, many people have lost faith not only in the powers that be, but those who have been and the political chances of any and all are not worth the better dollar today. The ranks of both the Republicans and Democrats are split wide open.

Who was it that said "oil soothed troubled waters?"

Japanese Athletics Advancing, Claim

LONDON, Feb. 25.—According to Prof. Wilden-Hart well-known authority on Japanese athletics and professor emeritus at the Imperial Japanese University, the average stature of the Japanese had increased half an inch during the last twenty years, and the health of the nation had improved 49 per cent.

Japanese athletes now compete in international games, and soon there will be a likelihood of their capturing some of the world's most famous sports trophies, said the professor in a recent lecture.

Swindlers Exposed By C. of C. Literature

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—To help everyone to avoid being duped by promoters and salesmen of worthless securities and by other swindlers, the Chamber of Commerce of the state of New York has published for free distribution a thirty-eight-page pamphlet which reveals the methods of swindlers and points out steps to take, not only to escape being a victim but also to prevent others being fleeced. Attention is called to the fact that there is great national waste through the operation of swindlers, and every citizen is greatly assisting the public welfare by familiarizing himself with their methods, and doing his part in protecting the community from their operations.

Care of Fatherless Children Is Problem

DENVER, Feb. 25.—To secure enactment of a law at the next session of the Colorado legislature that will protect children after their parents have been separated and the home broken up by divorce was the plea of City Chaplain "Jim" Goodheart, made recently at a meeting of the Denver city council. The matter was referred to the judiciary committee of the council for action.

The increasing number of children who are thrown upon the world with no financial resources because of the separation of parents is becoming alarming in Denver and Colorado, Goodheart declared, adding that "drastic action" was necessary.

LA CRESCENTA FIRE THREATENS FOOTHILL TOWNS

Outbreak Near Montrose Is Subdued by Quick Work
Of Departments

Residents of this district were very much upset on Saturday evening, when at 8:15 o'clock flames were discovered racing up the hills near Montrose. The origin of the fire was unknown, but it was thought to be sparks fanned to flames from brush fires in the La Canada district.

The homes of James Cruze and Clara Kimball Young in the Plint-ridge district were menaced for a time, but the prompt action of the Montrose and La Crescenta fire departments, who turned out as soon as the fire was discovered, saved the properties in the path of the flames. Montrose was safe from danger by reason of a fire break up in the hills, when the fire fighters warded off small outbreaks. Fire Warden Young of La Crescenta and Mead of Montrose, with volunteers, stayed on the scene of action till daylight in case of further outbreaks.

Great consternation reigned for a time on account of the high wind raging, also the dryness of the surroundings, due to the drought prevalent this fall.

New Subdivision
A new 12-acre tract to be subdivided is that of J. O'Leary, situated on North New York avenue. Mr. O'Leary is a recent newcomer, having lived in Toronto, Can., practically all his life.

H. N. Fowler is erecting a neat real estate office on his property at the corner of Honolulu and Los Angeles avenues, where Mr. Fowler owns 10 acres, which is on the market as the centre of the new Verdugo City.

It is rumored a very fine brick structure will be erected on the corner of this property at Los Angeles and Honolulu avenues, which will contain an up-to-date drug store on the main floor, while the second story will consist of a number of modern office rooms.

Mr. Fowler has many plans for the improvement of his property and is said to be employing the best men in the engineering and architectural professions to perfect his plans and bring them into being.

Mrs. Henry Arnold of Arnold ranch, situated at the corner of Pennsylvania and Honolulu avenues, is prostrated over the death of her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Ellis, formerly of Boston and New Brunswick, but who had lately resided here and in Los Angeles. On going to Mrs. Ellis' room Friday morning Mrs. Arnold found her mother had started on her long journey from which there is no return. It is thought Mrs. Ellis had been dead for a period of two hours or so before being found, having slept away peacefully as she had lived.

The funeral was held at the Little Church of the Flowers, interment being in Forest Lawn. Besides Mrs. Arnold of La Crescenta, another daughter, Mrs. Robinson of Los Angeles, is also left.

Injured Man Better
Mr. McCaulders of Piedmont avenue is recovering nicely from the accident he was in on Friday, when his car was badly smashed up in a collision.

The driver of the other car turned a corner on San Fernando road without signaling, going at about 35 miles an hour, while he escaped with bruises and a severe shaking up, the larger car was badly wrecked. Mr. McCaulders suffered from abrasions and cuts about the face.

Dr. E. M. Wemple left today on a business trip to San Francisco. On his return Dr. Wemple intends erecting an office on his Honolulu avenue property and practicing general medicine here.

Mark Collins celebrated the opening of the first store in High-way Highways with a dance given for the families in this new settlement. Good music furnished the incentive to dance and fun was the order of the evening.

Labor Rule May Swing Ulster to Free State

DUBLIN, Feb. 25.—The coming of a British Labor Government into power will in all probability drive Sir James Craig and the leaders of the Unionists in Ulster into the Free State, according to a remarkable statement made by W. McMullan at a meeting of labor supporters in Belfast.

McMullan declared that the Belfast Parliament was specially created by the British Tory party and was kept in power by subsidies from Great Britain. With the coming into power of the Labor Party these subsidies would likely cease because the Labor Party would have quite enough to find money for the relief of unemployment in Great Britain without bolstering up an expensive administration in six Ulster counties and helping to create an "artificial boundary."

If the Labor Party does not take up the boundary question, he said, it would be probable the politicians of the North would take the initiative and endeavor to get into the Free State.

MINOR OPERATIONS

Minor surgical operations were performed this morning at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital upon Mrs. Edith Boothy of 2045 Sycamore canyon road; Mrs. Edna E. Carleton of 377 West Myrtle street; Mrs. Martha Sommers of 1455 Highland avenue; Richard N. Kelly of 504 Providence street, Burbank.

BETTER MAILING WEEK UNDER WAY

Public Instructed In Method Of Insuring Quicker
Postal Service

Suggestions for improving the mailing service are contained in the bulletins that have been received by Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson from officials of the department at Washington, D. C., and these are being put into effect in the local office this week, although it had originally been planned to set Better Mailing Week for February 18 to 23.

In the suggestions that are made to the public stress is laid on the importance of depositing outgoing mails in the postoffice as early as possible; segregating mail according to states and cities where the quantity justifies it; addressing all mail properly and legibly; wrapping parcel post packages securely; putting the proper amount of postage on all letters and packages, and packing foreign packages even more securely than those for home delivery.

Complete Addresses
Addresses should give the complete street address and house numbers, or, in the case of rural delivery, the proper box numbers, and, wherever possible, abbreviations should be avoided, and all letters and packages should carry a return card.

Failure to place a return card on mail is one of the contributing causes to the fact that twelve million letters annually are undeliverable and cannot be returned to the sender, Postmaster Jackson states.

In connection with the plans for Better Mailing Week supervisors have been instructed to exercise closer supervision over all mail matter and to aid its delivery by every possible means.

Three Escape Injury When Auto Overturns

Three persons narrowly escaped death or serious injury when a Ford coupe, in which Mr. and Mrs. Harold I. Shipman of 506 Temple street, and J. H. Brown, 5506 Atlas street, Los Angeles, were riding, turned completely over at the junction of San Fernando road and Pacific avenue, this morning at 2:30 o'clock. Mr. Shipman, who was driving, did not see the jog in the road in time and ran into the sand on the side of the pavement. The three were pinned underneath the car and were unable to extricate themselves. The noise of the accident attracted the attention of neighbors, who rushed to their assistance. They suffered only minor cuts and bruises and were able to take the car, the top of which was demolished, into Los Angeles.

Two Boys Are Hurt Result of Collision

Two boys—Fred Hart of 241 North Brand boulevard, and L. Pierce, 562 West Oak street, were slightly injured last night when a motorcycle they were riding collided with a machine driven by S. E. June, 624 West Wilson. Mr. Wilson was turning into his own driveway, and the boys stated they were unable to stop owing to the throttle on the motorcycle sticking. They were taken to Dr. H. V. Brown's office where their injuries were given attention.

WIFE FIRST STEP IN CIVILIZATION

She Made 'Old Man' Begin
To Think of Doing
Other Things

By CHESTER B. BAHN
For International News Service
SYRACUSE, N. Y., Feb. 25.—"They treated 'em rough, with caveman stuff," and right then and there civilization, as marked by autos, freethinkers, radia, millionaires, fur coats, flappers and Santa Claus, came into being.

This was the substance of a lecture by Professor J. C. Duvall, Syracuse University, who traced modern civilization to the habit of wife capture which our forbearers indulged in several thousand years ago.

In those good old days, when man was the boss of the family cave, relationship was traced through the woman, said Professor Duvall, because daddy, the trifier, might have one wife to-day and another perfectly good one tomorrow.

Used His Club
The "old man" used his club as a persuader when the fair one of his fancy refused to listen to his love songs with favor, and so the progeny, not having much confidence in the fickle main meal ticket, stuck to mamma for support, the professor said.

Thus, when father had a whole set of wives and a flock of husky kids to beat off the sabre-tooth tiger when he came around to pay his morning call and to look for some human pork chops over breakfast, his mind had a chance to work, Prof. Duvall said.

Sat and Thought
He sat around the cave doing some heavy thinking, said the professor, and as a result he sallied out, got another flock of wives by main strength and started in planting gardens and taming dinosaurs on a big scale, having plenty of help to do the heavy work.

Thus "pop" got rich and began trading with his friends and neighbors. Then he took up the writing craze and lots of other things, and thus, said Prof. Duvall, civilization was well on the way.

Orange Show Closed By Storm's Damage

storm, which swept the grounds of the orange show here yesterday, two men were hurt, the show was forced to close a day sooner than scheduled, and monetary loss was fixed at approximately $200,000. A gale, estimated at forty miles an hour, struck the large canvas tent in which the industrial exhibit and automobile show were being held. Fire broke out almost immediately, adding to the confusion and loss. The fire was later extinguished after a stubborn fight.

Two Injured
Lyman S. Rich, secretary of the orange show, was struck by a falling tent pole, receiving a crushed shoulder, and P. M. Rasmussen, director of the Fresno Chamber of Commerce exhibit, was hit on the head by flying timber.

Although several trees in the vicinity were uprooted, no other property damage was reported.

ROME, Feb. 25.—A double marriage—or two marriages—in the royal houses of Italy and Belgium is in prospect.

The prospective marriages of the Princess Marie Jose of Belgium to Humbert, the Crown Prince of Italy, and of Leopold, Crown Prince of Belgium, to Princess Giovanna of Italy, are being discussed in royal circles.

If the latter marriage comes to pass—and the announcement of the engagement of the couple is considered imminent—it will be an interesting conclusion to a drama launched a year ago when the engagement of the Crown Prince of Belgium to Mafalda, sister of Princess Giovanna, was rumored. The Princess Giovanna, it got into the newspapers at the time, attempted to commit suicide when the report reached her because she was inordinately fond of Mafalda and they had vowed never to let marriage separate them.

Now, with Giovanna reported as the bride-to-be, Rome is wondering if Mafalda's emotion will lead her as far as her youthful sister. The Italian royal family were at the castle at Racconigi, near Turin, in September to celebrate the nineteenth birthday of the King and Queen of the Belgians. Giovanni and Mafalda fell ill, but the Belgian sovereigns remained at Racconigi until the fever took a serious turn. That they stayed on was taken as indication that the two matrimonial engagements would be announced.

The two princesses are fully recovered now.

Race to Be First in Trans-Ocean Air Line

LONDON, Feb. 25.—A race between Britain and Spain, to see which can inaugurate the first transoceanic commercial airship service in the world, now seems likely.

"All is ready so far as the Spanish engineers and the Buenos Aires Government are concerned," state officials of the Spanish Consulate in London. "It only remains for the Spanish Government to furnish financial guarantee."

"The plan is to build two large Zeppelin-type craft in Spain, each to be equipped with 9 engines of at least 400 horsepower each and to carry about 40 passengers and some 12 tons of freight, principally mails, twice weekly each way."

"The outward trip, it is estimated, would take 4 days, and the inward trip 4 1/2 days."

The British—or rather, Commander Burney's—scheme for an airship service to India is still awaiting the sanction of the House of Commons. A substantial subsidy is being asked for the inauguration and the upkeep of the service.

But, according to Commander Burney, even after this sanction has been obtained it will take eighteen months to build the airships. In this event Spain may well be the forerunner in this method of ocean transportation.

Farm Hands Were Paid Well During Last Year

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—American farmers paid higher wages to male farm labor in 1923 than at any time since 1914, it was announced at the Agriculture Department today.

The average rate of pay of farm laborers, including board, in 1923 was $33.18 per month, as compared with $29.17 in 1922. In 1914 the rate was $24.05.

The average daily rate of pay exclusive of board was $2.45 in 1923, compared with $2.20 in 1922 and $1.55 in 1914.

HUSBAND TOLD TO APPRECIATE WIFE CHARIVARIED ON GOLDEN WEDDING

Philadelphia Pastor Lists
What It Takes to Make Make Good Spouse

By GEORGE T. HOOK
For International News Service
PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 25.—The man who qualifies as a good husband is one with a good memory, and one who is appreciative, honorable, generous and a good provider.

This is the answer of the Rev. Christian G. Koppel, noted local pastor, to the question "What Sort of a Man Makes a Good Husband?" Recently he answered the question, "What Sort of a Woman Makes the Best Wife?"

Dr. Koppel condoned flattery in the make-up of a husband. "Tell your wife how beautiful she is," was his advice to Beneditors. "It may be stretching the truth, but God will not hold it against you."

Advices Appreciation
"It is a poor sort of husband," he continued, "who invariably notices the fetching gown of another woman, but is blind to his own wife's efforts to make herself attractive. Appreciation makes a man a good husband. The life of the average woman is a life sentence at hard work. It means endless sacrifice and one never-ending round of cooking, washing, cleaning, sewing, sick nursing and baby caring, and the only thing that makes it worth while is for the husband to show he appreciates her."

Memory is another asset, Dr. Koppel said. It is a fickle thing, especially among married men. He advised husbands to simulate pre-marriage blindness if they have since discovered faults in their wives, and to give them a few of the kind words they were liberal with in courtship days.

Man Needs Be Liberal
"A good husband also must have honor and be liberal," according to the pastor. "A man ought to be as particular in keeping his marriage vows as he is in keeping his business contracts. A man comes to the sacred altar without having read the marriage ceremony, gives his word in a most solemn promise to abjure all other marital vows, who would never dream of signing a business contract without first carefully considering the terms."

"Every husband should make his wife a partner in spending the weekly income. A good husband must qualify to abjure all other marital vows as he is in keeping his business contracts. A man comes to the sacred altar without having read the marriage ceremony, gives his word in a most solemn promise to abjure all other marital vows, who would never dream of signing a business contract without first carefully considering the terms."

Many Are Present
Relatives and friends attending the charivari were Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Vesper, Mrs. Orma Naudain, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Learned, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Bissinger, Mrs. Jennie B. HONOR AGED PAIR ON ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Meckfessel Celebrate 54 Years of Wedded Happiness

Beautiful arrangements of red roses, narcissus and ferns, messages from friends in all parts of the United States and greetings from relatives, combined in the happiness of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Meckfessel of 610 North Jackson street, who celebrated on Sunday their 54th wedding anniversary at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Burn, 315 Randolph street.

During the afternoon the happy couple recalled with interest the time 54 years ago when Mr. Meckfessel and Miss Julia Carolyn Saraceni were married at the home of the bride's parents in St. Louis, Mo., on Thursday night, February 24, 1869.

Many Friends Here
At noon a delicious dinner was served by Mrs. Burn, covers being laid for Mr. and Mrs. Meckfessel, Mr. and Mrs. J. Bateman and Miss Allen Bateman of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Enfield of Glendale, formerly of New York, and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Burn.

Mr. and Mrs. Meckfessel have been residents of Glendale for the past four years, having come here from Rochester, N. Y., and during their residence here they have made a host of friends.

Mrs. Meckfessel is 74 years of age and Mr. Meckfessel is one year her senior.

To Chart and Analyze Hawaii National Food

HONOLULU, Feb. 25.—Pol, the national food of Hawaii, is to be catalogued and charted by students of the University of Hawaii and its vitamin contents made known to the world. Brown-skinned sons and daughters of the islands whose ancestors thrived on this gray, pasty product of the Manard process, and by studying the rating in calories and vitamins, are to conduct the analysis along with that of a large number of other Hawaiian foods. Miss Florence Whittier of Palo Alto, has come here to supervise the work.

Miss Whittier is the daughter of a Stanford professor and received her master's degree from that university last year. She has done similar research work in the Stanford laboratories.

There were four representatives from the N. P. Banks post present at the meeting of the Southern California Veterans' association, held at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Patriotic hall, Los Angeles, reports T. M. Barrett, past commander of the local post, who was among those present.

The other G. A. R. members from Glendale who attended were C. E. Clark, Rev. C. R. Norton, and R. N. Taylor. It was decided to hold this year's encampment at Palisades park, Santa Monica, from September 2 to 12. The encampment will be named "Camp Wilson," after a deceased post commander.

British Yacht Searches for Cocos Isle Treasure

LONDON, Feb. 25.—The steam yacht, St. George is soon to sail for the Pacific on a romantic voyage, under the auspices of the Scientific Expeditionary Research Association.

An attempt will be made to locate a buried treasure of some $500,000,000 said to have been buried on Cocos Island. The treasure is reputed to have been placed on board an English sloop during the war in Spanish America, a century ago between Chile and Peru.

The backers of the voyage believe they have historical data which will lead to the discovery of the buried treasure.

PRESIDENT'S AID GIVES EVIDENCE

Coolidge's Secretary Tells Of Conversations With Fall and McLean

vanced by a different party than the one we supposed it had been,"
Slomp replied.

"I was down there on no mission for the president or anyone else. It was purely for my health."
Slomp denied that his trip was "political," but said he had a great many talks while in Palm Beach, and received callers from all parts of the state.

"My conversations were general and of no public moment. I didn't talk with Senator Fall as much as the public might think I would."
There was one conversation I had which I think would be of interest to the committee.

Offers Advice

"After the testimony was given that McLean didn't furnish the $100,000, I was at McLean's for dinner. Senator Fall said he had been advised by his physicians to go to Bermuda, but that he had decided not to go and had determined that the committee should have the facts—and that if the gentleman he had been working with for thirty years (Doherty) didn't reveal the facts, he (Fall) would tell the story. I advised him to do it."

"While you were down there, didn't you have conversations with anyone in Washington?"
Senator Walsh asked.

Slomp denied any conversations with any cabinet officer, any member of the committee or member of congress. He said he communicated with the White House, but that these messages were confidential.

Under further questioning by Walsh, Slomp denied he had ever met E. L. Doherty. He also reputed reports that he had been in secret communication with Fall or McLean.

Not Consulted

"I never consulted with them about this subject myself, by friend or otherwise. I have talked with no member of the committee or any senator or any member of the cabinet about this matter."

"Who is Mr. Glasgow, whom you were with in Palm Beach?"
asked Walsh.

"William A. Glasgow, a former resident of Virginia. He was head of the sugar equalization board, and can be reached in Philadelphia. He was my constant associate while I was there."

"Did you know Fall consulted with him as counsel?"

"He told me something about being invited into a conference, but I think he said he couldn't accept employment."

I didn't realize Fall secured

the services of Glasgow."

Back to Capital

Slomp testified he returned to Washington on the 16th of January, "and the papers carried on the 17th that Doherty was to testify and the whole thing was brought up on the 24th in record-breaking time."

"Did you see Fall about the matter?" asked Dill.

"I did not."

"Did McLean tell you why he decided to change his mind and tell the truth?"

"He did not."

With this answer Slomp was excused.

McLean's Banking Accounts Are Laid Before Committee

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—C.
Bascom Slomp, secretary to President Coolidge, took the stand today in the Senate public lands committee investigation of the naval oil reserve leasing scandal.
Slomp's appearance was requested by Democratic members of the committee who propounded questions to him regarding his trip to Palm Beach, Fla., last December, while ex-Secretary of Interior Albert B. Fall and E. B.
McLean, newspaper publisher, were there.

Before Slomp took the stand, Charles H. Lyddane, vice-president of the Federal American National bank, presented to the committee the complete records of E. B. McLean's banking accounts during 1921 and 1922.

The records showed a deposit of $30,000 on July 17, 1921; a deposit of $25,000 on September 29, 1921, and a balance of $2202 on November 16, 1921.

Denies $50,000 Check

Lyddane denied that a check for $50,000 had been written by McLean and not honored by the bank. He flatly denied any knowledge of such a check.

James H. Baden, vice-president and cashier of the Commercial National bank, then was called to present McLean's banking accounts in his bank.

Baden testified that on November 1, 1921, McLean had a balance of $534,348.13; which dwindled by checks drawn to $1743 on December 23, 1921.

Baden said no arrangements had been made by McLean to make an overdraft of $50,000 on his bank.

"Were you in Palm Beach last December?" Slomp was asked by Senator Walsh.

"Yes, sir; I left Washington December 22 and left Florida January 16, spending about half of the time in Palm Beach."

"Was McLean there at the same time?"

"Yes, sir."

"Where did you stop?"

"At the Breakers."

"Where did McLean stop?"

"At his residence, which I believe he rented from the Breakers company."

"How far was that from the hotel?"

"About three blocks."

"Did Fall come there?"

"Yes, I think he arrived on December 31, and left the night of January 13 or 14, I don't recall which."

Met On Golf Course

Slomp said he met McLean on a coincidence" and later was at McLean's home for luncheon and dinner.

"Do you recall how long before my arrival in Palm Beach my coming was made known?" Senator Walsh asked.

"I cannot," Slomp replied. "I don't know whether the information came out in conversation or through the newspapers. There was a lot of conversation—mostly about the Volstead act or the weather."

"In view of the talk that was occasioned by your being in Palm Beach, where Fall and McLean were, didn't you tell us about your conversations with those gentlemen?"

"I had no personal, intimate talk with either of them. I had never met Fall's family and I knew him only casually, having met him only a few times in Washington."

"Our talks were only such as occur at dinners and luncheons. I thought Fall looked ill and nervous and it seemed the desire of those at dinner to avoid discussion of the subject. I was not in his room, nor was he in mine. I met him at no place except at dinners or at luncheons. I suppose I met Fall three or four times before my arrival. I remember very distinctly that at one of these evening talks Fall said he thought the committee was not working on the right line."

Open Hearings Start In Oil Lease Probe

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Discarding the mantle of secrecy which has cloaked its work during the last ten days, the senate public lands committee resumed open hearings on several new lines of inquiry into the naval oil reserve leasing scandal.

Summoning witnesses from high places in the government, the committee plunged into an investigation of reports that leading federal officials, including members of the committee itself, were in secret telegraphic communication with ex-Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall and E. B. McLean, newspaper publisher, while they were together in Palm Beach, Fla., last December.

C. Bascom Slomp, secretary to President Coolidge, was called to testify regarding his trip to Palm Beach, where he met Fall and McLean and to tell whether he has been in communication in any way during the past few weeks with witnesses who have appeared before the committee or with men who, he learned by inside "tips," were to be called before the investigation.

Reports have reached Democratic members that there has been a leak somewhere in the committee and that confidential information and advance notices of subpoenas have been conveyed to outsiders and even to witnesses themselves.

Ask for Telegrams

In connection with Slomp's testimony, the committee wants from the Washington managers of the Western Union and the Postal Telegraph company, who were called for today, copies of all telegrams that passed between Washington, Palm Beach and New Orleans, sent or received by Fall and McLean. This information is desired because the committee has heard reports that high gov-

SOCCER COMPLEX SKIMS B. B. MANIA

British National Pastime Is More Attractive Than U. S. Chief Sport

By LUTHER A. HUSTON
For International News Service.
LONDON, Feb. 25.—One person out of every seven in England and Wales pays his or her shilling, perhaps more, every Saturday during the season, and pushes through the turnstiles to watch a football game.

Pause, people, and ponder that a minute. Yes, you guessed it.
Football is the national game in England.

Baseball is rightly called the national game of the United States, and unquestionably it draws a generous patronage. But is baseball as much the national game in America as football is in England? Let's assemble a few facts and figures.

The population of England and Wales, exclusive of Scotland and Ireland and the lesser islands that comprise the British Isles, is 37,- 885,242, by the latest census.
Therefore, when 586,000 people assemble to witness the footbal game of English football, the program it can readily be seen that football has a strong hold on the affections of the British people.

Imagine it Here!

Suppose one out of every seven persons in America turned out on any given day to visit the various big league baseball games.
That would mean approximately 15,000,000 cash customers.
It could not be done; but what a vista of rich profits such a condition would open before the magnates.

Comparison is made between big league baseball and English football for the reason that the attendance figures of 586,000 quoted apply only to the three "big leagues" of English football. How many people witnessed the lesser games in the minor villages, hamlets and "vacant lots" throughout England it is impossible to estimate, but it is reasonably safe to assume the number is larger in proportion than the attendance on any one day at all the baseball games in the United States has ever been.

As was indicated, there are three "major" leagues in English football. These are known officially as the First, Second and Third Leagues. By a complicated system of elimination these leagues eventually select teams that play for the English Cup, emblematic of the national championship. Incidentally, about 300,000 people attempted to gain admittance to the Wembley Stadium, which holds 120,000, when the "Cup Tie" final was played last year.

Pay For Players

In the three leagues mentioned there is a total of 84 teams. Each team, or club, carries about 30 men during the season. Hence there are about 2,500 players carried on the rosters of the three leagues. All are paid salaries, and frequently star players are bought and sold between the clubs much after the fashion of baseball trades and deals. Prices paid for stars, however, do not compare with those paid for luminaries of the baseball world. The record of the national championship football player, who did not rank with the $100,000 paid for Willie Kamm by the White Sox. Salaries also are smaller, the rules of the league forbidding more than about $2,500 per annum for a player.

The football played in England is of the variety known as soccer and is a fast, snappy game. From a spectator's standpoint it is a thriller.

Americans, however, will justifi-ably continue to get more thrill out of seeing the Bambino manufacture four-ply excursions around the bags than they ever could from watching Andy Wilson boot a neat one between the goal posts.

Merchants Express Sympathy for Smith

Resolutions of sympathy to Delos H. Smith, vice-president and manager of the Brand boulevard branch of the Pacific-Southwest Trust & Savings bank, on the death of Mrs. Smith, will be prepared by the committee that was appointed by the Glendale Merchants' association at the weekly meeting in the Egyptian Village today.

Scout Executive Harvey R.
Cheesman and a number of the members of the local Boy Scout troops appeared at the luncheon and gave a number of demonstrations of first aid work, especially the most effective methods of resuscitating persons who have apparently been drowned. In a short speech to the association Mr.
Cheesman urged that the members lend their aid and encouragement to the boys who are in the organization, pointing out the beneficial effect that the work has on the boys of the country today.

The regular routine occupied a large part of the time at the meeting.

ernment officials were in telegraphic communication with both Fall and McLean previous and during the time that Senator Walsh, Democrat of Montana, was in Palm Beach taking testimony from the publisher regarding his statement that he loaned $100,- 000 to Fall. McLean admitted the checks for that amount were returned to him uncashed.

Death Results From Automobile Accident

Struck by a car driven by K. E.
Kratzer, 702 East Colorado street, while crossing Vermont avenue at Los Feliz road in Hollywood, shortly before noon yesterday, Albert Allen of the Lakeview hotel, Los Angeles, received injuries which resulted in his death in a Los Angeles hospital last night.

Mr. Kratzer accompanied the injured man to the hospital after the accident and stayed with him until the end came. Details of the accident have not been made public, but Mr. Kratzer was not arrested in connection with the mishap, so probably no blame attaches to him.

The inquest will be held tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the office of Mead & Mead, undertakers, 939 West Washington street, Los Angeles.

GOVERNOR ARRESTED

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 25.—
Governor Warren T. McCray, ac-

Prizes for Guessing Beans Are Awarded

Results in the bean guessing contest conducted last week by Bryan & Campbell, at their sport shop and golf school at 219 South Brand, were announced this morning as follows: First, R. J.
Corrigan, $790; second, J. F. Mc-Carthy, $222; third, E. C. Dal-zele, $287.

A two quart jar had been placed in the window, and the contestants were asked to guess the number of beans it contained. It was found to hold 935. The prizes were $5, $3 and $2 in merchandise. There were close to 1000 entries in the contest.

MONEY FOR GERMANY

LONDON, Feb. 25.—From an authoritative source it was learned this afternoon that the British government has agreed in principle to participate in the proposed loan of 250,000,000 pounds sterling for Germany. It was learned from the same source that a group of American bankers have definitely agreed to take up a share of the loan.

BRITISH COTTON SPINNERS FACING QUEER PARADOX

World Bare of Their Goods, But Operating Mills
Proves Profitless

By SIR CHARLES MACARA
Chairman of International Federation of Cotton Spinners and Manufacturers' Associations
For International News Service.

MANCHESTER, Feb. 25.—The British cotton trade is faced with an extraordinary situation. While the whole world is bare of cotton goods we find it impossible to get trade on a paying basis. We have disorganization and confusion everywhere, and such business as is going through is at figures which not only do not pay dividends, but are a long way short of paying expenses in the majority of cases. Generally speaking, losses are being made all around. And yet, in spite of this fact, people go on making goods to stock, only to find later on they cannot hold them, and must liquidate at a sacrifice.

The spinners and manufacturers' misfortune is the buyers' opportunity, and month after month passes at this cat-and-mouse game, and the long-looked-for revival is being delayed.

Need Joint Action
The revival will continue to be delayed until we act together, until, in fact, we all agree not to make these stocks, and so oblige the merchants abroad to pay us a price which will at least put us on the right side.

The trade is now coming to see that this will have to be done, and the Federation of Master Cotton Spinners is at last moving in the matter.

Two things will have to be done to put matters on a footing to prevent a continuance of our losses. We shall have to revise the Cotton Control Board, and we shall have to secure the trade in order to facilitate organization.

But the real causes of the present depression are, first of all, that the cotton industry has been built up largely on overseas trade. England has not only to import the whole of her raw cotton, but, spinning and manufacturing it, she has to depend on overseas outlets for over three-quarters of her trade. Thus it is, that, while other cotton-manufacturing countries make chiefly for their own requirements, England is dependent on settled and prosperous conditions abroad for taking off four-fifths of her production, and therefore has been singularly unfortunate since the war. India, our best customer, not only found herself with high-priced goods bought at the top of the boom which she had great difficulty in disposing of, but she has been unable to sell her own goods in Europe, owing to the war conditions which still prevail.

Market Poor
China, our next best customer, has been afraid to give out orders owing to civil war conditions in the interior of the country. Turkey was for nine years in a state of war with the allies and unable to trade freely; while Germany, Russia and other countries have been in a state of turmoil, and have had no chance of doing business on the old lines.

Add to this the fact that cotton has been scarce and at a fabulous price and even now costs twice as much as in pre-war days, and one can understand the difficulties with which the staple trade of Lancashire is faced. Also, at the present moment we are suffering at the hands of unscrupulous speculators on the other side of the Atlantic. We have had to stand by and watch the gambling and speculative element run up the price of cotton from ten pence a pound in May, 1922, to eighteen pence at the time of writing, or more than double the price that "Middling American" stood in pre-war days. At the moment we do not know whether the planters have listened to the voice of the charmer and decided to grow less cotton, or whether the high prices now being paid will make them turn a deaf ear to these blandishments; but one thing is plain, and that is that England cannot go on being the sport either of the grower or the merchant in cotton and that she must find as soon as possible a safer, steadier and cheaper supply.

The remedy for the British cotton industry, I consider, is to be found in controlling the industry as we did in war time.

Average Man Believes He Won't Die, Report

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Feb. 25.—"The greatest difficulty is not getting money, but disposing of it," declared Arthur Young, Cleveland banker, addressing a local audience. He asserted that "the average man believes he is the one exception to the inevitable law of death."

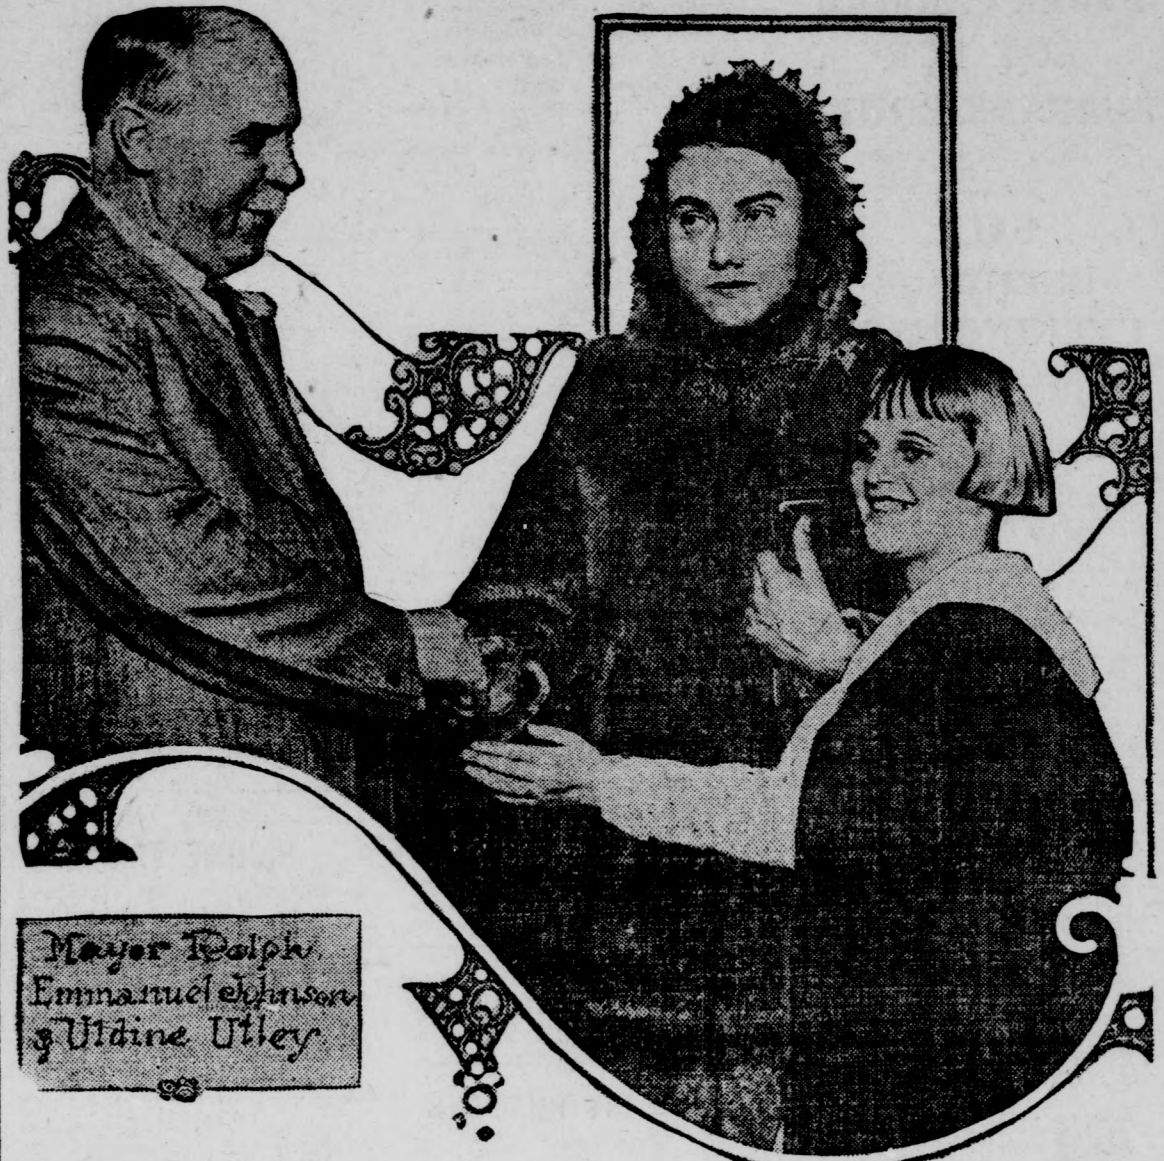

Ownership of property ceases at death," he continued. "The right of disposal goes, by law, to the state; but the state makes a concession in granting the right to make a will, which, once drawn, is irrevocable."

Young advised that a person, preparatory to drawing up a will, consult a good lawyer and select a competent executor. A trust company, he said, is the safest executive.

Child 'Preacher' Says Scripture Good Enough As It Is

Mayor Ralph
Emmanuel Johnson
& Uldine Utley

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14.—"The Bible is good enough as it is and needs no modern interpretation."

This is the creed which is being told to thousands of persons here by Uldine Utley, 11-year-old girl, known as "the world's youngest preacher." She is appearing in San Francisco under the auspices of the Rev. R. J. Craig, head of the Bible Institute. Packed houses have greeted her everywhere.

The child preaches the gospel literally, asserting that its literal interpretation is the only one which Christians may accept. Until three years ago Uldine, according to her mother, was an ordinary child, with dreams of becoming a motion picture actress. Then she heard an evangelist speak. She began to study elocution and the Bible.

She held "services" and "preached" for some months in the San Joaquin valley before coming here to conduct meetings. Chester B. (Singsong) Cannon is the child's musical director. He is a cousin of "Uncle Joe" Cannon, of Illinois.

WHISKERS VOGUE IN LONDON TOWN

Hotel Employees Covering Features With Hirsute
Mask

LONDON, Feb. 25.—"Where's that young fellow that was head waiter here last summer?" "I'm 'im, gu'v'nor. It's me whiskers, like, that's changed me so you didn't know me."

The above dialogue, perhaps in slightly different form but of the same general purport, is quite likely to be repeated over and over again this coming summer when the tourists from the United States begin their annual invasion of London. Those who have been here before will be puzzled over the absence of familiar faces at their favorite hotels. Those who visit London for the first time will begin to doubt if their ship has not sailed right by England and brought up in Moscow.

Whiskers—that's the reason. The staffs of all the leading London hotels are going to grow whiskers. No one knows, as yet, just why they are going to raise a crop of facial growth, but the "jowdown" has it they are.

The Royal Palace hotel, frequented by many discriminating Americans, started it. Orders went forth to all of the staff that their jobs would be much more secure if they took immediate steps to hide their features behind an assortment of "zits."

They Consented
The staff, not caring to enlist in England's army of 1,500,000 unemployed, took the tip at its face value, no matter what the value to their own faces might be. So everybody—waiters, porters, superintendents, even the pages—responded as gallantly as nature would permit to the ukase.

That the movement will spread, even more rapidly than some of the beards, is the confident expectation of the Royal Palace management. "We think," said the hotel manager, "that it looks more dignified, and it certainly will set a fashion." If the "fashion" does take hold the arrival of an American tourist at any London hotel is likely to take on a rustic like this:

The tourist will drive up to the portals of the hotel in a taxicab and will catch a glimpse of a "linkman" hurrying forward to open the cab door. The double row of brass buttons down the front of the "linkman's" uniform will be entirely invisible, owing to the spreading foliage that dangles from his chin. It is probable that the "linkman" will have taken a couple of reefs in his whiskers and tucked them under his belt to avoid entanglement with the handles on the taxicab door.

As a Pen-Wiper
Inside the hotel a reception clerk—called a "clark" in all really English hotels—will absently wipe a pen on his growth of trailing arbutus and, dipping it (not the beard, but the pen) in fresh ink, extend the pen so the guest may inscribe his moniker in the book provided for that purpose.

Then a page boy—spruce looking from the neck down to his natty pants and jacket, but with a tender, downy growth beclouding the adolescent freshness of his cheeks—will conduct the visitor to his room. Soon a brace of husky porters will bring the bags and trunks and things, murmur "Kyou, sir; 'kyou very much" through their drooping Dundrearies and withdraw, gratified or disgruntled, as the case may be, at the amount of the tip for which they have just given thanks.

It is understood that throughout the hotel the help will be en-

Charges Plot to Stop Boulder Dam Building

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—The Southern Edison Power company is seeking to defeat the Colorado river improvement project by promises and pledges of irrigation water to settlers in the Imperial and Coachella valleys, Mark Rose, a director of the Imperial valley irrigation district has charged before the house irrigation district. Rose stated that officials of the company had approached the directors of the irrigation district shortly before he came to Washington with a proposition to supply them with all necessary water at lower rates should they abandon their support of the Colorado river development before the government.

The power company has proposed constructing the Boulder dam at Boulder canyon, Colorado river, as a private enterprise. The irrigation district and Imperial valley settlers are opposing the plans of the California Southern Edison company and are urging that the dam and other developments be undertaken by the government.

couraged to place no restrictions upon the growth of their facial alfalfa—will be allowed to let their whiskers run riot, as it were. But for the kitchen and dining room staffs moderation will be encouraged, as it is recognized that not many guests would remain perfectly calm if the waiter were to be seen trailing his whiskers in the soup as he staggered toward their table. Hirsute adornment of the Van Dyke persuasion will be advocated for those who assist in the preparation and serving of the hotel's provender.

They Don't Mind
What do the hotel employees think about it? Well, listen to Ambrose, the head waiter at the Royal Palace:

"I'll admit," quoth Ambrose, "that I did feel a bit embarrassed the first day or so, and me missus didn't exactly like the idea, but we both got used to it."

Some of Ambrose's confreres already are pointing with pride to the beards they have been able to grow. "It only took me five days to grow mine," said Rikkew, the head porter, "and just look at the beauty it is!" To the scoffers who declare it is not possible to assemble a staff at any hotel capable of producing a really creditable hirsute ensemble, the management of the Royal Palace reply that in all their staff there have been only three cases of failure—and all of them were under 18.

GREATER CANAL PLAN ESPOUSED

Col. Philippe Bunau-Varilla Urges Open Strait in Panama Zone

By JOHN T. LEWING, JR.
Special to The Evening News.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Enter the Panama problem. It is a matter of international importance the United States alone can attend to.

The present waterway linking the Atlantic and Pacific at the Isthmus is inadequate to handle the demands of international traffic and it is in constant peril of being made useless to this country, or any other, for that matter, by the guns of whatever country takes a notion to take a stab at the heart of the United States and separate its Atlantic and Pacific fleets.

It is a problem worthy of the best attention of Washington. A scheme calculated to solve it is now being advocated in this country by Colonel Philippe Bunau-Varilla, who was associated with De Lesseps in the French canal project in Panama in the Eighties. It has not been officially presented to the government.

Colonel Bunau-Varilla, who as the first minister of the Republic of Panama to the United States signed the Hay-Bunau-Varilla treaty which gave us the right to complete and operate the canal, advocates the immediate transformation of the waterway from a lock canal into an open strait.

Tolls to Pay Costs
The cost of the operation, he estimates, would be approximately $1,000,000,000, but not one penny would come out of the pockets of the taxpayers of the United States. The work, he says, could be completely financed out of the current earnings of the canal, because traffic through the waterway, under his plan, would not be interrupted at any time in the 20 years required for the transformation from canal to strait.

Under the Bunau-Varilla plan the Strait of Panama would be 1,000 feet wide at the bottom, and would be 50 feet deep at low tide. He explains that such a waterway is an absolute necessity and must be started at once to protect both the commercial and military interests of the United States.

The recent naval manoeuvres showed that the canal works could be completely destroyed by shelling by the big guns of modern battleships or by airplane and submarine attack. Bunau-Varilla says the machinery and construction of the lock system might be destroyed by earthquakes or explosions, accidental or otherwise, and the sinking of a ship, also accidental or otherwise, might block the whole lock system.

He declares that the change to a strait, getting an unlimited flow of water from the ocean from a canal depending to large extent on rainfall for its water supply, was absolutely necessary if the canal was to handle the tremendous freight tonnage that will demand water transportation from ocean to ocean within the next 20 years.

Predicts Great Traffic
He predicts that the canal traffic, which reached 24,000,000 tons in 1923, would increase to more than 50,000,000 tons by the end of the next ten years, and to more than 100,000,000 tons by the end of 20 years. The enormous traffic even in ten years, he declares, could never be handled by the present lock canal.

ROMANCE IS DEAD SAYS FLOWER GIRL

Lovers No Longer Purchase Posies for Sweeties, Vendor Reports

By DAVID M. CHURCH
For International News Service.
LONDON, Feb. 25.—Love and sentiment are dying a rapid death amidst the hurly-burly of life. "Nelly of Piccadilly" makes this observation.

For thirty years "Nelly of Piccadilly" has sold flowers to the whole world. She is known from Alaska to the Fiji Islands, and anyone who has ever visited London has probably chatted for a minute or two with this ruddy-cheek "flower girl" who sits beneath Cupid's statue in Piccadilly Circus, in sun and storm, and sells flowers to the passerby.

Piccadilly Circus is regarded by many as the center of the world, and there in the middle of the Circus sits Nelly vending her wares to Indians from the Far East, to hustling Americans, to tanned South Africans, to wood-en-clogged Dutch fishermen who have wandered up from Billingsgate and to be-spattered French dandies. Nelly observes the world as it whirls by and sighs—for she is convinced that the good old days are gone forever.

No More Sentiment
"The modern lovers aren't like the old ones," Nelly declared, in her peculiar nasal Cockney twang. "They aren't so sentimental now-days. Years ago every lover bought a posy for his love and never thought of going to her without a gift of flowers. But now they never think of buying them—they take their sweethearts a box of chocolates instead."

"I'm afraid the old trade of flower-selling is dying out. People are in too much of a hurry these days to stop in the old Circus and buy roses or violets, or whatever we have for sale. All that people think about in these days is how to catch their omnibuses and dodge the traffic."

"You can say what you like—the good old days of the horse bus and the horse cab were the best. They were the best for flower-sellers, at any rate. People had time then to think of flowers—and buy them, too."

Nelly resumed her work of binding up bunches of French violets.

"Laavly v'lets, laavly v'lets! Nas fresh rasses, nas fresh rasses! Laavly v'lets!" called Nelly's shriill voice, as she gave up philosophizing and went back to work.

HONOR COMPOSER OF WABASH SONG

Sentimental Writer Will Have Memorial Near Terre Haute, Ind.

By LLOYD MELLETT
For International News Service.
INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 25.—"On the Banks of the Wabash" isn't so much of a song as it is a feeling and to have that feeling one doesn't have to live in the neighborhood, say the leaders of the Paul Dresser Memorial movement. Rivers have always carried a strong appeal to song writers as well as to song singers, and they have formed the theme for countless plaintive melodies.

The Mississippi has furnished plenty of inspiration, as has the silvery Colorado, the beautiful Ohio and the Potomac, but for sheer worth the "Wabash" has survived and bids fair to become a classic along with the "Swanee" among river songs.

It is a sort of left-over from those days of sentimental tendencies of a quarter of a century ago—one of the dreary, hopeless outpourings which perhaps often became maudlin rather than genuine, the kind which caused a gulp—not always superinduced—between lines and verses.

Contemporary Songs
Almost contemporary, if not quite, with such "heart touching" melodies as "Just Tell Them That You Saw Me"—also by Dresser.

WHITE SOX TRIM VALLEY CHAMPS

Lankershim Nine Goes Down To 12-1 Defeat In Slashing Battle

The old saying that "class will tell" was amply demonstrated yesterday afternoon at the White Sox park when the Sox smothered the Lankershim club, champions of the San Fernando league, by a score of 12-1.

Playing against a team from an organization where the pastime is not so "fast," the Sox looked like a million dollars, and for the first time this season had some semblance of a concerted attack against the enemy. The visitors, who were rather lax in playing their proper position in the field, were time and again drawn away to field bunts, only to have the old hit and run worked by the Triple A club.

Bennie Hall, youthful twirler, working for Frank Kerwin, pitched a wonderful game, allowing only six hits, two of which were decidedly scratchy. It looked like a shutout for the slambang until the eighth, when Shellenbach's long double to left scored Prince, who had reached first on a fielder's choice.

Six Runs in Fifth
The Sox scored first, in the second inning and added another run in the third. The blowoff came in the fifth inning, when three hits, accompanied by a flock of errors and several bad mistakes in judgment, netted the Sox six runs. They added one more in the sixth and three in the seventh. Hall, the first man up in the fifth, grounded out, Burns to Shellenbach, and the entire White Sox team faced Minckler before they retired him again for the second out of the inning, which was a strike out.

Lewis, who goes to Seattle this week, catching for Sawyer's crowd, was the star of the day, getting three hits out of five times at bat, and playing his position in good shape. Blenkiran covered a great deal of territory in center, and in addition, scored three runs, although he did not get a hit during the afternoon. Dorman and Sammis, two recruit outfielders, each batted at a .500 clip during the afternoon, getting two hits in four times up.

It was announced that the St. Louis Giants would make their final appearance on the Pacific coast against the White Sox at Glendale next Sunday. The score:

HOLDOUTS THICK ON YANKEE TEAM

Champs Start for Training Camp With Four Men And Manager

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service
NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—In spite of heroic attempts on the part of Yankee officials to laugh the matter off, it has become an incontrovertible fact that the champions of this world consist of a small body of men completely surrounded by holdouts. No club in the recent history of baseball has had so many dissenters at this late stage of the proceedings. The Yankees are due to leave for the south next week with outfielder, two catchers, a shortstop and a manager under the contract. The rest of the regular outfit has gone into the silence.

Included among the latter are Joe Bush, Sam Jones, Waite Hoyt, Bob Shawkey and Herb Pennock, pitchers; Wally Pipp, first baseman; Aaron Ward, second baseman; Joe Dugan, third baseman, and Bob Mense and Lawton Witt outfielders. Bush and Pennock are now indulging in a verbal catch-as-catch-can with Ed Barrow over the terms of their contracts, and may be expected to sign those papers at any time. The others are incommunicado.

Four Sign Contracts
Those who took pen in hand were Everett Scott, shortstop, and Wally Schang and Fred Hoffman, catchers. Our Mr. Ruth had a hold-over contract.

Perhaps the boys are inclined to take Colonel Jake Ruppert too seriously. In a weak moment, with the flush of a world's series triumph mantling his brow, Colonel Jake is alleged to have declared that every man on the team would receive a salary increase for 1924. He since has denied this many times and oft, but to no particular purpose.

Fengler Sets New Speed Records In Beverly Contest

HAROLD FENGLER, the "boy wonder," who yesterday set a new world's record for speed at Beverly Speedway.

Getting away in front and staying there until the finish of the race, Harold Fengler, "boy wonder," yesterday won the 250-mile classic which marked the end of the famous Beverly Speedway. In doing so he set a new world's record for speed—averaging 116 miles per hour for the entire course.

It was field day for the Los Angeles boys driving a Wade Special. He shot his car out in the lead as the flag fell and was never headed. He did not stop during the entire course. His pal, Jerry Wunderlich, drove a Durant Special into second place.

Harry Hartz was third; Bennie Hill, fourth; Tommy Milton, fifth; Eddie Hearne, the 1923 champion, sixth; Jimmy Murphy, seventh; Earl Cooper, eighth; Joe Boyer, ninth; Cliff Durant, tenth, and Phil Shafer, eleventh. The other six starters withdrew or were flagged down.

Fengler completed the 250 miles in 2 hours, 3 minutes and 14.2 seconds, and set a new world's record for 50,100,150 and 200 miles in addition to the full distance. The race was considered a fitting climax to the life of the Beverly bowl, which will be dismantled to make room for a new subdivision.

SHELL OIL STAR BLANKS SAWTELLE

Fairbanks Leads His Team
To Victory In Triple A Title Battle

Fred Fairbanks, Shell Oil pitcher, was the hero of the first game between his outfit and Sawtelle for the championship of the Triple A league, playing at Signal Hill yesterday, when he shut out the visitors by a score of 8 to 0.

This victory brought his string of consecutive wins to thirteen, and the shutout is remarkable in that he faced one of the most formidable teams on the Pacific coast. A capacity crowd was on hand to witness the first game of the "semi-pro" world's series.

Mally Hood, Guy Cooper, Jim McDowell and Charles Barnaby were helpless in the face of Fairbanks' mound work. "Babe" Twombly, one of the star sockers of the coast circuit, and Fred Gunther, newly-acquired Angel, were the only ones that could solve his delivery, each getting a pair of hits.

The oilers gave Fairbanks sterling support and looked every inch a champion club, and justified their position at the top of the Triple A standing. The clubs will meet at Sawtelle next Sunday. The score:

Swede Flash Circles Ascot Bowl In Record Lap
In Second Trial

Sig Haugdahl, world's speed champion, made good his promise and beat De Palma's mark at Ascot yesterday when he traveled around the dirt bowl in 30 3-5 seconds, two-fifths of a second faster than the best time made by the famous Italian.

In his first attempt Haugdahl failed to lower the track record, owing to his inability to hold his foot on the accelerator, due to the roughness of the track. He went to his pit, taped his foot to the accelerator and started for the record. In his second attempt he was successful.

De Palma easily won the George Washington sweepstakes in 10:51 2-5 seconds. Walker, champion of the motorcycle, also won his event.

As the result of basketball games played last week, the University of Washington leads the northern division of the Pacific Coast conference and the California Bears are topping the southern division, although the former leads the percentage column with 6 games won and 2 lost.

Attention on the coast is centered on the fourth game of the California-Stanford series, which will be played at Oakland tomorrow night. A Bear victory clinches the championship of the southern section for California, but if the Cardinals should win, a fifth game will be necessary.

The coast championship series will be played in the south this year.

Local Legion Squad Holds Second Practice

Twenty ballplayers and would-be ballplayers turned out for the second practice game of the American Legion team yesterday morning at the White Sox park.

The practice as laid out by Coach Bryan consisted of batting practice and infield work. The team at present is shaping up well and the local squad is going after the championship of the state, won by El Segundo last year.

The local post numbers on its rolls several players who have seen service in the "big leagues," and together with local amateur players, expect to turn out a winning combination.

Manager Bob Stevens announced another practice for next Sunday morning at 9:30 o'clock.

Ohioan, 85, Proves He Is Still Crack Shot

LIMA, Ohio, Feb. 25.—W. O. Wallace, 85, recently took his shotgun and three shells and strolled into the woods. He returned with two squirrels and one shell still unused.

"My eyes are not quite as keen as they used to be, but I can still see good enough to shoot pretty straight," Wallace said.

Sport Sparks

National league will award $1,000 to most valuable player in 1924 season. And the guy who wins the prize will get such a swelled head he will be of no value whatever in 1925.

They used to give an automobile to the best all-around man in the league, but the players soon got sick of that. The winner got a machine worth $1,500, but it would cost him twice as much to keep the darn thing in repair.

And when the winner tried to see if the automobile could cut corners as fast as he could cut bases another month's salary went to pay fines for speeding.

One automobile concern awarded a "collier" touring car to any player who knocked a fly ball against their sign on the bleachers. At least they were truthful about it—the bus generally collapsed after the first hundred miles.

A hosiery manufacturer used to award a box of socks to any player who hit a homer, but unfortunately Babe Ruth came along and put 'em out of business.

Most valuable players to other six clubs in league last year were Philly and Boston pitchers.

Another valuable man was Luque, of the Reds. He swapped wallops with Casey Stengel, and the next day 40,000 fans jammed the park in hopes of seeing another scrap.

The idea of awarding a cash bonus instead of a medal is a good one. A medal looks nice around the house, but you can't use it to pay the rent.

TROJANS WINNER OF TRACK MEET

Gather More Points Than
All of Other Teams
Combined Saturday

Five thousand people witnessed the greatest A. A. U. Relay carnival of all time, which was held in the L. A. coliseum Saturday afternoon. The University of Southern California varsity and freshmen teams ran wild and romped all over the other teams in every event. It was certainly a Trojan picnic with plenty of easy meat on the cinderpath. Coach Cromwell's U. S. C. varsity won the meet with a total of 88 points, more than all the other points combined. The Trojan pageanters took second honors with 21 digits, and Pomona college copped third.

In the prep classes the Hollywood High, Huntington Beach and the Redlands warriors proved the victors. It was one grand day of excitement with plenty of thrills for the spectators. The time was considerably good and the races close.

Keith Lloyd won the 100-yard dash in 9 9-10 seconds against an exceptionally fast field of contestants including Smith Taylor and Argue. Iron-man Argue failed to take a single point in the day's performance. In fact, the whole Occidental team seemed to be out of their class. They need some stiff workouts before they engage with the U. S. C. varsity on the Patterson cinderpath March 8.

Charles Dags took the high hurdles in 15 seconds flat after he tripped on the last hurdles for a neat spill.

John Powers, Oxy 220 demo, pulled a muscle in the last lap of the eight man, 1-mile relay, open, and the Tigers failed to place.

The point summary follows:

OFFERS PASSAGE FOR WORLD ILLS

Christianity As Solution of Present Day Problems Urged by Pastor

Christianity was strongly recommended as a cure for the ills of the world by Rev. C. M. Calderwood, pastor of the First Congregational church, in his sermon yesterday morning.

"Men have tried Christianity," said Rev. Calderwood, "and have found that it works. The ideals of Christ have exposed their sins. They have learned what repentance is. They have experienced forgiveness. They have been given a new life, new powers for labor and a new spirit for sacrifice. We have tried Christianity and can testify to its blessing, power and comfort. We are not ashamed of the gospel of Christ."

"We have tested Christianity in other ways. Christianity went to the form of John Howard to the prisons of England, and it was there that it was tested. Christianity went in the form of Florence Nightingale and ministered to the wounded of the Crimea. It spoke through John Bright for the abolition of the corn laws of England. It worked through Wilberforce and Lincoln for the abolition of slavery. We have found that the Christian solution of these problems has been a wise solution."

Stop Short of Goal
"There are old social problems such as war, race hatred and race prejudice, old industrial problems, crime, disease and poverty. We have tried various solutions for these problems. For example, take war. We said commerce would solve the war problem. Then we said education would solve it, or international law, or the awfulness of war itself. None of these various methods have succeeded in ridding us of war. We have started to solve some of these problems by Christianity, but we have never been willing to go the full length of Christianity in our attempts to solve them."

"There are new problems confronting us in our complex civilization. New wars, new hatreds, new prejudices, industrial wars, economic wars, capital and labor problems, distribution, education, social evils, political corruption, commercialism, materialism: these are our problems. We have numerous panaceas and remedies. But would it not be wise to turn to Jesus, to his way and his ideals of life, and see if we cannot discover a solution? In other words, why not try Christianity?"

"It is either Christ or chaos. Christ is the only hope of the world. Why not try the Christian program?"

SOLVES PROBLEM OF JESUS' DEATH

Rev. Kringle Explains Human Doubts Regarding Fate of Son of God

"The doubts of human reason concerning the death of the Son of God" was the theme taken by Rev. Henry O. Kringle, of the Zion Lutheran church, for his sermon yesterday morning. His text was Luke 18:31-43.

He said in part: "They understood none of these things; and this saying was hid from them, neither knew they the things which were spoken." This is what St. Luke has to say of the disciples, after the Lord had told them in plain words that now they were going to Jerusalem, and that there He must suffer and die. None of these things did they understand.

The solution of this problem is obvious. They did not understand how their Lord and Master should be delivered into the hands of the Gentiles to suffer and die, that was incompatible with their opinion of the Son of God and His glorious kingdom. They expected to go to Jerusalem and see Jesus enthroned as the great King of Israel, to inaugurate a new era for the Jewish nation. Their reason revolted at the idea that He, who had once been the ruler of the world, should now be delivered into the hands of the Gentiles to suffer and die.

Doubts To Be Hushed
"But, says human reason, was all the suffering and death necessary? The scriptures tell us that God is not only merciful, but also just and holy, that His justice demands full punishment of the transgressors; and that He cannot forgive sin in such a way as to act as if sin were nothing serious. All doubts and offenses concerning the necessity and the suffering and death which were necessary for the redemption of the world, and the influence of the divine word."

"Remembering that the wages of sin is death, but the free gift of God is eternal life, through faith in Jesus Christ, true believers will live into eternal life."

Urgent Need Of Greater Room In Public Library To Meet Patrons' Demands

Glendale, "The Fastest Growing City in America," has not outgrown growing pains, which are being keenly felt at present in the region of the Public Library at the corner of South Kenwood and East Harvard street.

The most convincing proof of the inadequacy of the present library building can best be secured by going to the library, perhaps at an evening reading hour, arriving too late to get a chair in the reading room, but not too late to elbow one's way among the young and adult patrons for a magazine or book to be read while one leans against the wall or window ledge or book shelf.

Or perchance the visit may be in search of some reference book to be found on the stacks in the reference department. Be the book on the top or lower shelf, the same problem presents itself to fat and thin alike, for lack of space necessitates the book shelves being placed so near together that bending down or stretching up each has its dire results.

Reports state that plans for enlargement are first in the hearts of the library board and that tentative plans for a bond issue to provide more adequate accommodations are under way.

Have Plenty of Room
Ample ground for enlargement surrounds the present library building, and those who have enjoyed the graciousness of Mrs. Alma J. Danford, the first librarian of Glendale, and still presiding over the present institution, picture what a breadth of service she and her staff can make when their "home" is made to meet their needs.

So, while room space is diminishing, opportunities for service are increasing, and Glendale readers, old and young, can always find something to satisfy their reading wants among both old books and new.

Among recent additions to the stock of books in the library for older readers there are the following, which include fiction and non-fiction:

"The Construction of the Small House," by H. Vandervoort Walsh, instructor of interior construction in the school of architecture, Columbia University, a book of practical interest for anyone who is intending to build or alter an old house. It is a book for architects and above all for laymen, who need to know how to avoid mistakes and costly rebuilding.

"Sea Tracks of the Spee Jacks," "Round the World," by Dale Collins, a story of a 35,000-mile trip around the world. Mr. Collins tells the story with contagious enthusiasm.

"The Story of My Life," by Sir Harry H. Johnston, student, painter, traveler, novelist, explorer of unknown Africa, linguist and writer.

Another Vagabond Story
"Wandering in Northern China," by Harry A. Frank, author of "A Vagabond Journey Around the World," travel adventures of the "prince of vagabonds" in Korea, Manchuria, Red Mongolia and in the northern half of China proper.

"My Garden of Memory," an autobiography by Kate Douglas Wiggin. Her life and her work, both ending together, are summed up in this crowning book of her long literary career.

"Tertium Organum," a key to the enigmas of the world, by P. D. Ouspensky, translated from Russian, the greatest philosophical work that has come out of Russia.

"Roosevelt in the Kansas City Star," edited with introduction by Ralph Stoll. More than one hundred editorials written by Colonel Roosevelt for the Kansas City Star in 1917 and 1918. A book by and not about Roosevelt.

A Life of Francis Amasa Walker, by James Phinney Munroe, the biography of an eminent American.

Foreign Boy's Progress
"From Immigrant to Inventor," by Michael Pupin. This is a story of a little Serbian herder of cattle near the Bulgarian border; of how he ran away from school at 15 and came to America and worked his way on farms and in factories and finally won himself an education and became one of the greatest scientists in an age of great scientists.

Gentle Sirs: I am writing to say that I am very much annoyed with you. It is decidedly irritating to me to think that winter is practically over in our fair city and you have to date seen fit to neglect the passage of a rain ordinance.

Now, gentle sirs, we must have rain and I intend to get to the bottom of this matter. If there is politics behind this thing I intend to find it. I have made inquiries in other cities of similar importance with Glendale—New York, Chicago, Boston and Walla Walla—and I find they have all passed such ordinances. In fact, many of them have passed snow ordinances as well.

Maintenance Charged
Now then, why has no rain ordinance been passed in Glendale? Are you prepared to answer that question? If not, prepare yourselves, for a copy of this letter has been addressed to The Glendale Evening News and will

Occult Science Pastor Tells Need for Overcoming Life's Barriers

Last night at the Occult Science of Christ church, 113 South Orange street, Mrs. Mabe Moore delivered an interesting and thoughtful sermon on "Renunciation."

The keynote of Mrs. Moore's address was that it is our duty to renounce the power of the world over us, its power to move us to anger, to rob us of our poise and self-possession, to hurl us into the depths of despondency and discouragement. This aspect of renunciation was the foundation, the ground-work on which Mrs. Moore built her address of the evening.

She said in part: "The nature of renunciation is a subject on which there is considerable disagreement in the theological world today. Some adhere to the conception of the subject that was prevalent in the Middle Ages, and also in some parts of the world today, that is, that life's pleasures and happinesses, life's joys and sorrows, are to be utterly renounced by the one seeking to know and experience the reality of the kingdom as obstacles, as barriers, in the path which will lead him to the realization of his ideal. In the opinion of those holding this view, life's pleasures and worldly enjoyments are temptations placed in the world to lure the aspirant from his high and god-like resolution to know reality, which is to know God, the only reality. I think there is another view of the matter, another aspect of the truth, which is, as it were, the complement of this ancient and time-honored conception of renunciation."

"I hold that, along with our renunciation of life's vain pleasures, along with the renunciation of the gratification of our lower natures, we should also renounce the power of the world over us, the power of the world to rob us of our poise, our self-possession, to reduce us to poverty and to deny us the opportunity of expressing, of manifesting, the powers and capacities with which we were born into the world, our birthright. A mark of the man who has thus renounced the power of the world over him is his equality. He is not unduly elated upon the attainment of success, nor is he unduly depressed when met with failure. One quality which is most surely included in those he has resolved to renounce, to strip of their power in his life, is the quality of fear, than which there is none more productive of suffering than which there is none more fatal to man's expression of his divine nature, his true nature."

Mrs. Moore concluded her analysis of renunciation with the words: "This renunciation of life's vain pleasures and its negative qualities by the aspirant is not easy; its successful accomplishment must be attended by the most sincere intention and constant effort. For, he who has mastered the forces of his own being, has mastered all; there is naught within the seven spheres that is not within his control."

Work In Chinese Field Is Explained

to Miss Atkinson. At present there are ten American students from various colleges teaching in Hangchow.

Miss Atkinson told some of the interesting things that an American notices and is confronted within China. First of all, she was a teacher in English and sat at a desk in front of the class, talking English to an audience of enthusiastic Chinese boys, but she knew not a word of Chinese.

The college is situated six miles from the picturesque city of Hangchow, high up on the hills. The town of Hangchow is noted for its beauty. The college has large grounds and many magnificent buildings. There is a chapel, an observatory, laboratory, administration buildings, residences for the Chinese professors, houses for the Americans, two libraries, and the latest equipment in all departments.

The enrollment of the institution is 150 boys. The school has a four-year high school course, a junior college course of two years, and a senior college course of three years. The studies are the same as in America with the exception of the Chinese classics which are required over there. The students have many activities along literary, debating, dramatics, Y. M. C. A. and athletic lines.

Teach Bible Classes
During the summer these Chinese students, who are all of the middle class, go to their homes and establish Bible classes, using their spare time in teaching younger boys. No Chinese boy is turned away from the college because of his family's religious beliefs.

Hangchow Christian College is aiding the country more and more to solve the problems confronting their nation. Miss Atkinson said. The hope of the students is to come to the United States and to Occidental. Two Hangchow graduates have come to this country and graduated from leading eastern universities. One received a diploma from Princeton and the other from Columbia. Occidental is doing a great and much needed work among the Chinese. Before we would now have ample rain for our needs?

The Teapot Dome scandal is not unique. It begins to appear that Glendale has a little teapot all its own. Now then, what I want to know is, when is tea served, and where?

Yours suspiciously, XAVIUS ZANTIPPE.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.
Author of "Diet and Health, with Keys to the Calories"

THE UNDERNOURISHED CHILD—No. 1.

Last Monday and Tuesday I gave you articles on the nervous child. Because the nervous child is very apt to be the under-nourished child, these articles will fit in very well with that series. If you missed last week's articles perhaps you can get the back papers at the office of this paper.

A child cannot gain unless he is "free to gain." Here is a program to make his gaining possible:

1. A thorough physical examination by a competent physician to discover diseased conditions, if any are present, and to remedy them if possible. These thorough physical examinations should be repeated at least every six months.
2. Right mental, moral and physical surroundings for happiness. An unhappy child is not likely to gain. Have a cheery, positive attitude and talk health and strength, the conditions he is going to manifest, rather than the ill health and weakness which he is manifesting. Eliminate all nagging, scolding and fault-finding.
3. The elimination of over-work and over-play, which lead to over-fatigue. Don't let the child get too tired to eat! It may be best to take him out of school if his condition of malnourishment is extreme.
4. Long hours of undisturbed sleep—11 to 12 of them daily. No movies or excitement in the evening.
5. Long hours in the fresh air and sunshine with as few clothes on as possible, so as to expose the skin to the direct rays of the sun. (Do this gradually.)
6. At least one rest period one hour long, lying down (sleeping, if possible, in the afternoon or forenoon, or both).
7. Last, but very important, the furnishing of sufficient nourishing foods at regular intervals.

All of these must be done if the child is to be free to gain.

You must realize that the irritability and the nervousness and the "tantrums" of the malnourished child are due to the fact that his entire system is starving and his nervous system is extremely unstable. (The child's nervous system is not very stable, remember that.)

He is not mean because somebody on his father's side is mean!

CLAIMS AMERICAN WIVES SPOILED

Englishwoman Urges Fervent Love-Making

Ruby Miller

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—American men are fine and virile, but they should have more of the qualities of the sheik.

So opines Ruby Miller, author, pianist, dancer, dress designer and actress, who has come over from England to pay us a visit.

American men, she says, are so engrossed making money with which to clothe the women of their home that they are overlooking the fervent love-making that makes for enduring happiness between man and wife.

And she also believes American husbands have pampered their wives so much that they have spoiled them.

"Love is the axis upon which the world revolves! Without love humanity would wither and decay. It is the very life blood that surges gloriously through the veins of mankind!" she told me, growing lyrical.

"I have been particularly impressed, since coming to America, with the rugged characteristics of your men. But are they not too engrossed in the pursuit of the dollar? Are they not overlooking the fervent love-making that makes the sheik the ruler of all he surveys? The men of America should inject more ardor into their love-making.

"They should not take romance as a matter of course. Under no circumstances should they neglect their women for the more material phases of life.

She Talks and Talks

"There should be more solicitation on the part of the husband for the welfare and happiness of his wife. There should be more forbearance, more tolerance, on the part of the wife for the fault of her mate. There should be more understanding, more sympathetic feeling—and GREATER FERVOR IN LOVE-MAKING, which, to my way of thinking, is becoming a lost art!

"Womanhood cries out in a voice of anguish for love!

"When the men of America—when the men of all the world—take a leaf from the sheik's book of love-making, we may expect the tidal wave of marital unhappiness to subside and contentment will replace it.

This sprightly, blue-eyed, au-burn-haired English beauty, familiar to continental audiences for her Shakespearean interpretations with Sir Herbert Beer-bohm Tree, discourses on many subjects eloquently with the abundance of a queen.

Her quick reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use your full name, street number, and the name of your city and state.—The Editor.

BEAUTY CHATS

A DRY CLEANING

It sounds rather odd to suggest dry cleaning the face. It sounds as though it were a bit of silk or a kid glove; but as a matter of fact there are a great many complexions that benefit enormously from a dry cleaning.

These are oily complexions. Oil preparations would be cleansing, of course, but would only add oil to a skin already over-burdened with it. Dry cleaning is done by rubbing over the skin a large lump of carbonate of magnesium of as light a quality as you can purchase. You can either rub the big lump itself over the face, or rub off a lot of its powder into a rag and rub the face with this. You will be amazed at the amount of dirt that comes out of the skin.

After a thorough rubbing go over the skin again with a bit of fine clean rag, then rinse in warm water, using no soap, then in cold water, and the skin will be pink, clear and fresh looking. This is not a daily treatment, but just an occasional one for foggy or muddy days when an oily skin looks quite hopeless, or for very hot summer days. This is an excellent treatment, by the way, for an oily nose. A little bit of the magnesium or a rag thickly powdered with it should be rubbed just over the nose every morning. In a week or so the oily condition should be cured. Carbonate of magnesium is very drying, therefore it should never be used after the face has been washed or after steaming, or when the skin has been perspiring and it should never be used for a dry complexion.

All these hints about what to do for a very dry or very oily skin may make the subject of beauty treatment seem foolishly complicated, but as a matter of fact attention should be paid to them, for if you know the right thing to do for your skin at the right time you simply must have a clear and bright complexion as a result. There are times when your skin needs oil and times when it needs drying. The wise woman should recognize these.

Miss G. T. C.—If you really consider the shape of your nose so bad that you feel it must be operated on, the very best advice I can give is that you see your own

Heart and Home Problems

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

A "MEAN" SISTER

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl in my late teens and am considered very pretty. Most girls would think I am lucky and have nothing to complain about, but I consider myself quite unlucky.

I have a sister who is not what I consider a real sister. She is very inconsiderate. To describe her specifically, she is "bull-headed," mean, happy-go-lucky, and has no heart for even her own parents. She not only says unkind things about me behind my back, but says them to my face in front of all my friends. Of course my feelings are hurt terribly.

THE PROPER TIME

Dear Mrs. Thompson: When should a person go if invited to a twelve o'clock dinner at a private house where the hostess does her own serving? A SUBSCRIBER.

Plan to arrive fifteen minutes or so before the hour set for the dinner. When a hostess does her own work it is confusing to have guests arrive too early.

JEANETTE.

Almost everyone knows by now the reputation of the president for tactfulness. While he was vice-president, it is related, a reporter attempted to interview him.

"Do you wish to say anything about prohibition?" was the first question.

"No."

"About the farm bloc?"

"No."

The reporter turned to go.

"By the way," added Coolidge, unexpectedly calling him back, "don't quote me."

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 25.—The city without apartment houses. While many urban residents might long for such a spot, Kansas City, Kan., is not advertising its fair city in this respect, but, moreover, is lamenting the fact that there is a great shortage of apartment houses—in fact, practically none at all.

The number of first-class apartment houses can be counted on one's fingers, as Roy R. Hosford, building inspector, who is attempting to solve the city's housing needs, says there are just ten in the entire city that could be given a good rating.

This is unusual in a modern city of approximately 200,000 population and is lamentable when there is a crying need for housing quarters, particularly apartment houses, it is declared.

One year ago it might have been said that the city was without apartment houses entirely, and today the city, an important industrial center, is in but little better shape.

Residences are not the need, as the city's population is made up in the majority of workers who require quarters with lower rental. Apartment houses seem to be the only solution.

In an effort to encourage this type of construction the city planning commission, in drafting a zoning bill, set aside several residential districts in which it is urged apartment houses be erected.

The bill is designed to make it almost incumbent that apartment houses be built in these districts. A big industrial project is being completed this year to add to the already acute need for such accommodations, and the commission was looking ahead a few months when it drafted its plans to relieve the situation.

The Kansas City Safety Council has opened a school of instruction in safety for drivers of commercial vehicles.

Classes will be conducted for five weeks, holding sessions on Thursday of each week, to instruct the drivers in safety methods, traffic laws and careful driving.

All phases of motor-car construction and operation will be discussed at the school, in addition to safety talks by men connected with the council. Motion pictures, showing various phases of automobile construction and maintenance, will be shown.

Mayor Cromwell opened the school with an address on "Your Civic Duty as a Driver."

Telegram received by British firm which makes business of shipping whiskey to a point "25 miles off the coast" of the United States.

By DAVID M. CHURCH
For International News Service
LONDON, Feb. 25.—If the American prohibition authorities can locate "Comrades" in New York they may throw new light on rum smuggling.

"Comrades" appears to be the code name for the American syndicate which is buying whiskey from Lieutenant Colonel Sir Brodric Hartwell's English syndicate for the export of whiskey.

In the latest invitation to British investors to make "a certain 20 per cent profit on capital every sixty days," Sir Brodric produces a cablegram from New York as evidence that his business is sound and satisfactory. The cable is as follows:

"We are delighted quality goods everything unbroke safely have cabled today payment due you direct your bank cable confirmation receipt and expedite next shipment Comrades."

Sir Brodric's prospectus to investors who care to venture their money on the shipment of whiskey to America is interesting and indicates that there is no apparent slump in the American bootleg business.

How It's Done
"I have arranged with an American syndicate to take from me at least 10,000 cases of high-class Scotch whiskey a month," says the prospectus. "This syndicate has deposited with me U. S. A. gold bonds to the value of over £10,000 as a guarantee that the goods will be purchased and paid for in cash on arrival at the point twenty-five miles from shore. I sell to this syndicate at an agreed price—my sale is guaranteed and certain, and my profit is equally sure. The cargo will be fully insured against all marine risks."

According to Sir Brodric, each shipment ties up the investor's money for about ninety days. "This allows a month for bottling, labeling and packing; a month for transport, and a month lying off the coast for unloading."

The next dividend is "due" from Sir Brodric's syndicate about March 15, and therefore it seems probable that a ship is now bound for America with a cargo of whiskey, which it will unload during the latter part of this month.

British patriotism is appealed to in the Hartwell prospectus; and there are evidences that anti-American sentiments among Britishers are not neglected.

"The export of whiskey from this country is perfectly legal," the prospectus declares. "It helps British trade, increases employment and swells the national revenue."

"The Great and Friendly U. S. A." is a heading under which appear several paragraphs, certainly not aimed to further Anglo-American debt and the effect which the debt settlement has had upon the value of the pound sterling.

"There are few things we can sell to the U. S. A. to get a bit of our own back, but Scotch whiskey is one—therefore, if they want it, let us by all means sell it to them, and get some good American money for it and as much as possible."

Sir Brodric also reproduces some clippings concerning the activities of the bootleg fleet and of their ability to escape the prohibition patrol.

"How keen the authorities must be to stop the traffic and arrest

Whiskey Worth a Million Shipped Back to Britain

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Because bootleggers can offer a better price on whiskey than legitimate importers can, it became necessary to ship back to England, 9,000 cases of Scotch, valued at $1,000,000.

The wet goods were stored in a Brooklyn warehouse. Importers who had hoped to sell the whiskey to legitimate dealers in medicinal liquors brought it into this country through legal channels in 1921.

They found illicit competition too strong, it was declared.

these 'criminals' when they allow those well-fitted motor boats owned by United States citizens to use harbors and anchorages unmolested after a successful run!"

"Yet 'Pussyfoots' in this country talk of the trade 'embitting' the relations between two great friendly nations," because British boats and British traders help British trade by selling British whiskey to American citizens.

Sir Brodric frankly states that he wants to enlarge his business, and invites all who have the equivalent of $15 to join with him in exploiting this El Dorado.

Dinner Stories

The shaded lights, music in the distance, sweet perfumes from the costly flowers about them—everything was just right for a proposal, and Timkins decided to chance his luck. She was pretty, which was good, and also, he believed, an heiress, which was better.

"Are you not afraid that someone will marry you for your money?" he asked gently.

"Oh! dear, no," smiled the girl. Such an idea never entered my head!"

"Ah, Miss Liscombe, he sighed, "in your sweet innocence you do not dream how coldly, cruelly mercenary some men are!"

"Perhaps I don't," replied the girl, calmly.

"I would not for a moment have such a terrible fate befall you," he said passionately. "You are too good—too beautiful. The man who wins you should love you for yourself alone."

"He'll have to," the girl remarked. "It's my cousin Jennie who has the money—not I. You seem to have got us mixed. I haven't a penny myself."

Tommy Taylor, 8 years old, was not long ago given his choice of entertainment as, between a concert or a picture show. Now although Tommy is musical and therefore really preferred the concert, he decided after some reflection on the picture show.

When pressed for an explanation he said:

"Well, going to that dark theater makes washing my ears unnecessary."

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE BLUE JAY

While hopping through the woods one day, Uncle Wiggily chanced to hear a sad voice saying:

"Oh, dear! Oh, dear! Oh, dear!" "Hum! That sounds like trouble," spoke the rabbit gentleman to himself. "If it isn't the Wolf, the Fox or the Bob Cat I shall be glad to help." Then he called:

"Who are you and what is the matter?" Back came the answer: "Fish hook! Fish hook! Fish hook!"

At least it sounded like that. "I don't know who you are," called Uncle Wiggily more cheerfully. "You are a blue jay bird, aren't you?"

"Yes, and I flew against a sharp thorn on a tree and hurt my wing," was the answer. "I am a blue jay bird, but I can't fly, and how I am going to hustle about and pick up a living I don't see—and winter hardly half gone! Oh, dear!"

"Don't worry," spoke Uncle Wiggily kindly as he twinkled his pink nose. "I'll help you. I'll take you home to my hollow stump bungalow and there you may sit until your wing gets better."

Hopping along a little farther, the rabbit gentleman saw the blue jay, with his crest feathers on his head, perched on a tree branch. "Oh, dear! The bird's wings covered with blue and white feathers, hung down limp. It had been pierced by a thorn, and though the wing wasn't broken, the blue jay could not flutter it to fly."

"But I will carry you home," said Uncle Wiggily kindly. "Come with me, blue jay."

So the rabbit gentleman took the bird, which is one of the few that do not mind cold and snow, home to the hollow stump bungalow.

"I have brought you company, Nurse Jane," said the rabbit gentleman to his muskrat lady housekeeper.

"So I see!" exclaimed Nurse Jane. "Welcome to our bungalow, Mr. Blue Jay Bird. I shall get you some crumbs to eat."

"Thank you," croaked the bird, for his voice was harsh, like the crack of a crow. But he was a good bird for all that.

"He will be company for you while I am away," whispered Uncle Wiggily to Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy as the bird was eating. "He can also help around the bungalow."

"I'm glad to have him, of course," said Nurse Jane. "But what a blue jay can do around a hollow stump bungalow. I don't see!"

However, it was only the next day before she saw. As it happened, Nurse Jane had been making herself a dress, sewing in the bunnies and tuckings on the ruffles—you know whatever is needed to make a dress. And when it was finished there were a number of threads scattered over the carpet.

"But I'll pick them up," said Nurse Jane to Uncle Wiggily as she noticed the rabbit gentleman looking at the threads on the floor. "I'll pick them all up!"

However, as Nurse Jane was picking up the threads the telephone rang and Mrs. Wibblewobble, the duck lady, called over the wire.

"I hear you have been making yourself a new dress, Nurse Jane. Can't you bring it over so I can see it? I'd come to your bungalow, only I am making a cake?"

"Well I can't run over and show you my dress until I pick up all the threads I scattered on the floor," said the muskrat lady.

"Nonsense!" laughed jolly Uncle Wiggily. "Run along, Janie, I'll pick up the threads for you."

"Thank you," said Fuzzy Wuzzy. So she took her new dress over to Mrs. Wibblewobble's. Uncle Wiggily began picking up the threads, but he had to do it slowly, because he had a rheumatism pain in his back.

"Ouch! Oh, dear! This is harder than I thought," he groaned.

"Let me help," offered the blue jay bird. He could hop about the floor, even with a sore wing, and as his back was just made for picking up things, the blue jay soon had taken every thread off the floor.

"That was good of you," said Uncle Wiggily.

"Oh, it will be practice for me when my wife comes back to me in the spring," said the blue jay. "I have to help her pick up bits of thread, grass and horse hair to make the nest. In fact I think I'll

"I'll carry you home," said Uncle Wiggily kindly.

before the Wolf could say anything, the bird hopped up on a chair, and then the mantle and there he could reach over and he picked the Wolf right on the bad chaps' nose. The bird didn't bother to take off any ravelings. But, oh, such a hard pick on his nose, the blue jay gave the Wolf.

"Wow! Scowzie! Wow!" howled the bad chap! Then, clapping his paw over his sore nose, away he ran, not nibbling the bunny at all.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed the rabbit. "Now I can tell Nurse Jane what a blue jay can do to help around a bungalow."

POEMS That LIVE

TELL ME, MY HEART, IF THIS BE LOVE
When Della on the plain appears,
Awed by a thousand tender fears
I would approach, but dare not Tell me, my heart, if this be love?

Whenever she speaks, my ravish'd ear
No other voice than hers can hear,
No other wit but her approve:
Tell me, my heart, if this be love?

If she some other youth commend,
Though I was once his fondest friend,
His instant enemy I prove:
Tell me, my heart, if this be love?

When she is absent, I no more Delight in all that pleased before—
The clearest spring, or shadiest grove:
Tell me, my heart, is this be love?

When fond of power, of beauty vain,
Her nets she spread for every swain,
I strove to hate, but vainly strove:
Tell me, my heart, if this be love?

—Lord Lyttleton.

Our Defense at Panama

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the first of a series of six articles dealing with the Panama Canal, America's international highway, which military and naval authorities regard as of the greatest strategic importance in the event of war involving the United States.

COLON, Panama, Feb. 25.—The big guns defending the Panama Canal do not shoot far enough.

An enemy fleet, standing off 20,000 to 35,000 yards—or about ten to twenty miles, could bombard our coast defenses and reduce them to wreckage without danger to the attacking force.

High naval and military experts today declare this to be one of the outstanding lessons learned at the recent joint army and naval maneuvers in the canal zone, the greatest of which ever undertaken by the United States in times of peace. In this maneuver 75,000 navy men, including 7,000 officers and 9,000 army men regularly assigned to the canal zone, took part. Also, more than 150 warships—our entire "two billion dollar navy" and close to 100 airplanes were used in the grand military and naval spectacle.

Our coast defense guns, it was brought out, can shoot only 23,000 yards at the most, as against 30,000 yards, and better, attained by the Black (enemy) fleet standing off in the Caribbean sea and firing at the forts near Colon, the harbor of the Atlantic side of the canal, and environs.

It is regarded as highly essential from the standpoint of national defense that the Panama Canal land and naval district forces be strong enough to give assurance that our Pacific fleet be able to pass with impunity through the canal to form a juncture with the Atlantic fleet, as the war situation might warrant, without danger.

Uncle Sam's navy is regarded as essentially an offensive weapon and, consequently, should not be called upon to defend the "big ditch," although, by being free and unhampered and acting as an offensive weapon, it would automatically be defending the canal from an enemy attack.

The full defensive power of our navy, in the opinion of experts, is greatly weakened and as a matter of course the United States imperiled, should there be another war, through the defensive defects that should be remedied by the canal defending forces—one of the chief defects being the fact that the canal is underground.

The canal guns are now ele-

WHO'S WHO

VICTOR MURDOCK
Victor Murdock, editor-in-chief of the Wichita, Kan., Eagle, gave up a $10,000 a year job to resume active editorial management.

Murdock, a member of the Federal Trade Commission for seven years, recently handed his resignation to President Coolidge, giving as his reason his desire to take up active newspaper work again.

His term had a year and a half to run. He has done what for most persons in politics is unprecedented, giving up a job of his own free will.

Murdock had a long and interesting career in Washington. His resignation from the trade commission marks a period in a public service career beginning in 1903. He was elected a member of the 58th congress in that year, serving in the national body continuously until 1915. In 1917 he was appointed a member of the Federal Trade Commission by Woodrow Wilson and re-appointed in 1919.

The commission did a tremendous amount of work in the war, participating in the making of some of the biggest contracts the government entered into for steel and other supplies. Since the war the commission has made numerous investigations, besides its regular work.

The regular work is the sensational fight with the big packers probably being the most outstanding one. For the past year Murdock has been chairman of the commission.

Deepest hole ever made in the earth was in West Virginia when in drilling for oil a depth of nearly a mile and a half was reached.
